City Still After Hillcrest; But Judge Wants New Charges

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON City Corporation Counsel Aaron E. Klein has filed papers calling for the arrest of James Gardiner, manager of Hillcrest Gardens but Special City Court Judge George A. Beck has refused to sign the warrant for Gardiner's arrest.

Judge Beck said that the city would have to come up with a different set of charges if it hoped to get the case back in court. "This looks like the same set of charges that were brought before me on March 10," Beck said.

"I'm willing to pursue this case but I see no sense in doing the same thing all over again. If Mr. Klein will come up with some different charges I will consider them."

The City brought Harold Brus-

kin Associates of New Brunswick, N.J. to court on the 10th, charging them with failure to provide heat to some of the tenants at the Fairview Avenue apartment complex. The case was dropped because Bruskin could not be extradited from New Jersey for violating the city housing code, a misdemeanor.

Reportedly, Mayor Francis R. Koenig has written Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. asking them to sponsor legislation making violation of a city housing code an extraditable misdemeanor.

The overriding concern of city officials, according to the Building Inspector George E. Radcliffe, is for the tenants. "For example," Radcliffe said, "We could condemn the buildings but that would force everyone to move out. That wouldn't help the tenants."

The city building department has been involved actively in the Hillcrest heating case for at least four months. Complaints from tenants during the winter have become fairly routine for the past two years.

Radcliffe and Klein met with Bruskin and his representatives in November of last year in an attempt to work out a settlement whereby Bruskin would make repairs to the heating system. Reportedly Bruskin was granted immunity from prosecution to attend that meeting.

Officials at city hall say that Bruskin agreed to make the necessary repairs at that time. The department, however, continued to receive complaints from various tenants on the lack of heat.

Klein brought the case to court before Special City Judge George A. Beck on March 10 but the charges were dismissed because Bruskin, the man named in the proceedings, did not appear.

Beck, at the time, termed Gardiner "a dupe of the owners. Gardiner, apparently, could not be held responsible for the condition of the boilers."

Those boilers were shut down by the Kingston Fire Department on March 12 as a safety measure after a fire call in the basement of one of the buildings.

The Schenectady Savings Bank which holds the mortgage on the property and the Federal Housing Administration, which insures it, have been following the case but have been waiting for a formal complaint from the city.

City officials, as yet, have not issued a formal complaint to the bank or the insurer. Such a complaint could result in the foreclosure of the mortgage which could lead to a lawsuit against the city by the owners.

John Cullen, a senior boiler inspector for the State Department of Labor, was at Hillcrest on Thursday and inspected the boilers. He said they needed extensive repairs but did not, reportedly, order them shut down. Cullen said he told the owners of Hillcrest two years ago that the boilers were in a bad state of repair. He is currently compiling a report.

City officials could shut down the boilers, if they so choose but that would defeat their expressed purpose of considering the welfare of the tenants first. "A little heat is better than no heat at all," one city official observed.

Chicago Letter Carriers Out

Nationwide Mail Strike Seen

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

The crippling letter carriers strike spread to Chicago today and threatened to envelope the entire nation as post office workers defied a call by their union leaders to return to work.

Postal workers in the nation's two largest cities defied national union demands to return to work and continued the work stoppage which has increased the possibility of a nationwide postal strike.

In Chicago, workers refused to cross letter carriers' picket lines in front of the central post office, despite a plea by the National Association of Letter Carriers that they return to their jobs while a settlement for higher wages and fringe benefits is negotiated.

Chicago's main post office is the central distribution point for the nation's mail and the walkout there will drastically affect mail service to other sections of the country.

The Chicago post office handles about 18 million pieces of mail a day and is the largest in the nation under one roof. It employs 26,000 persons, 5,000 of whom are mail carriers.

McGee said the supervisors will "definitely not be able to deliver any mail."

At the General Post Office in New York, where the union's branch 36 sparked the first postal walkout in history three days ago, a post office department spokesman said only 10 of 400 workers due in at 6 a. m. had reported to work by 7 a. m. EST.

The New York carriers did not heed their own local leaders who called a vote later in the day to discuss the return to work request, and handlers, drivers, and clerks supported the carriers and honored the picket lines for the third day.

The union leader in Washington had warned that if there is no settlement within five days, beginning Monday, they will call for a complete shut down of the nation's mails.

The first break in the Washington agreement came early today when the Chicago local struck at midnight.

The Chicago action, cutting off the central distribution point in the national mail system, was followed quickly by votes to strike at midnight in other large cities, including Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Denver and Minneapolis.

Early Saturday morning, Vern Doll, president of the letter carriers' local in Minneapolis, enthused "the strike looks beautiful."

But James H. Rademacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, said, "I am confident that the people in Chicago will limit their walkout to one day. . . I have promised that our members will be back by Monday morning."

The New York local struck suddenly at midnight Tuesday, triggering the sporadic but effective walkouts.

It was the first postal strike in the country's history. Postal employees are forbidden by federal law to strike.

The walkout spread to 12 states and forced a mail embargo for all of New York City, New Jersey, Connecticut and much of upstate New York.

The letter carriers demand a pay increase. Starting pay is now $6,176 per year and goes to $8,442 after 21 years. The union is asking a 39 per cent increase to a pay range of $8,500-$11,700 within five years.

Only Congress can authorize a pay increase and postal pay legislation that includes a 5.4 per cent raise has been snagged for months. Nixon has hinged the increase on postal reform.

Labor Secretary George P. Shultz met with the leadership of seven national postal unions, including Rademacher's letter carriers, and later announced the agreement.

An aide to Shultz said the government would take no action during the weekend. "We'll wait until Monday morning to count noses. . . They'll have the weekend to straighten things out."

Poughkeepsie Service At a Halt

By NANCY SULLIVAN

KINGSTON Letter carriers in Poughkeepsie have joined in the postal strike which is threatening to spread from coast to coast.

Frank Slavic, assistant postmaster of Poughkeepsie, said that mailmen had made their decision to strike at about 9:30 last evening. Slavic said that "clerks and mail handlers are honoring the strike" and refuse to cross the picket line. There are no deliveries in Poughkeepsie, with no mail coming in or going out.

Meanwhile, here in Kingston, Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk stated that there is still no talk of a strike. He told The Freeman that the Poughkeepsie shutdown will affect Kingston in the same way as the New York strike. Mail cannot go to or come from that particular city.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. wired President Nixon yesterday urging the administration leadership to end the spreading strike. He also wired members of the United Federation of Postal Clerks urging them not to join the illegal strikes.

The text of Congressman Fish's wire to President Nixon read: "Respectfully urge positive administration leadership in ending postal strike now reaching emergency proportions. Respectfully suggesting your leadership in calling meeting between administration, House and Senate Postal and Civil Service leaders and responsible leaders of national postal unions. Believe prime need now to show postal workers that Congress and administration are aware of problem and are taking action."

In his wire to the UFPC in Poughkeepsie, Congressman Fish urged strongly against illegal strike, saying such action would prove counterproductive in postal employee demands.

In explaining his action, Congressman Fish said, "This strike is illegal and cannot be permitted to continue. On the other hand, many of the postal workers demands are justified. In effect, this strike is a wildcat strike of frustration among long-term responsible postal employees. I wired because I did because to leadership to end the present strike lies with the administration." Fish told the postal employees in his wire to them.

Checking with his district office in Washington today, Congressman Fish said that the office had been deluged with phone calls in relation to the strike.

In Monticello 82 pouches from the Suffern Distribution Center mysteriously appeared — brought by a driver who crossed the picket line in Suffern. After some deliberation mailmen agreed to sort and deliver the mail. Mail clerks did not want to handle the late pouches because the Suffern Center was on strike and they felt that the driver should not have crossed the picket line. But after negotiations with the postmaster and local union leaders the union men decided to work the bundles. They stated however, that they would not work if more mail was brought in.

In Newburgh, mailmen voted Friday night to go on strike at midnight Sunday if no settlement is reached. The Census Bureau in Newburgh had planned to mail out hundreds of thousands of short census forms next Saturday. Administrative clerk Greta Rhodes said the census bureau had set up a shuttle between the north-east office in Boston and points between New Haven, Hartford and Poughkeepsie.

'Strong Team' Is Nominated At GOP County Convention

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON Ulster County Republicans at the George Washington School Friday night nominated what County Chairman Albert Spada termed "a strong team" for election in November.

Named to carry the GOP banner for reelection were Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., State Sen. Jay P. Rolison, Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, County Treasurer Fred H. DuBois and Coroner Arthur Chipp. Named to seek a first term as district attorney was Francis J. Vogt who is presently first assistant district attorney.

Congressman Fish was nominated by Kingston City GOP Chairman, Melvin Mones with a second coming from John Klein, Plattekill Town Chairman.

Referring to the redistricting of the 28th Congressional boundaries, from five to nine counties, Fish said that Ulster, after Jan. 1 will be the "center of activity," three times the size of the other counties and therefore "of supreme importance to me."

The congressman said he welcomed the opportunity to be a part of the continuing effort the administration is making to work in behalf of curbing inflation, improving the environment and in coping with the many problems it faces today.

Rolison was nominated by former Surrogate Francis X. Tucker with Benjamin Schecter of Kingston seconding the nomination.

Tucker lauded Rolison not only for his accomplishments in Albany but his "ability to get along with people in the district and in government — everywhere."

Bell was nominated by Ulster County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago with a second coming from Marletown town chairman William Davenport. Savago said Bell "has made his mark in Albany" and outlined some of his accomplishments such as the Pure Waters bill, the preservation of Lake Minnewaska and snow makers for Belleayre Mt.

This week's City Beat features a brief look at the newly nominated Democratic candidates for county office. Column on Page 14.

Bell indicated that he felt there is good liaison between his office and the Ulster County Legislature as well as town officials. He said the present infatuation with New Frontiers, that although the GOP is not too happy with some statewide candidates, it must look at political realities and elect a GOP Congress, Senate and Assembly in view of upcoming reapportionment of 1971.

The nomination of Vogt for district attorney came from Kingston attorney and banker Howard St. John who stated that Vogt had "the experience and the temperament for the job." He is a "law and justice candidate," he suggested.

The second nomination came from Woodstock town chairman and county attorney Abram Molyneux.

Vogt, who is seeking the post being vacated by DA Joseph P. Torrace who does not seek another term, said he would wage "a vigorous campaign."

DuBois, who received the nod for the county treasurer's job once again was nominated by Rochester Supervisor Franklin Kelder with the nomination seconded by Saugerties Chairman Donald McCaig.

Chipp, called a strong vote getter for the entire team, having been elected seven times, was nominated by Maurice Rosentock, Wawarsing town chairman and member of the GOP advisory committee. The second came from Vice Chairman Mrs. Sally Brinnier.

The County Committee also accepted the nominations of Mrs. Doris Stang and Assemblyman H. Clark Bell as state committeemen. Hurley Chairman Ernest Myer made the nominations which were seconded by James Rapp of Kingston.

The Committee on Vacancies in Ulster County was named, with Warren McDowell of Gardiner offering the resolution which was seconded by Peter C. Fisher of Kingston.

Named were Spada, Clarence Anderson, secretary of the Ulster County Republican Committee, who presided at the unofficial convention and Mrs. Brinnier.

Good Friday Lecture Set

ROSENDALE

A most unusual and timely lecture will be given on Good Friday evening, 8 p.m. in the auditorium of St. Peter's School, Rosendale. The topic will deal with medical and physical aspects of the so-called Shroud of Turin, one of Christianity's significant and historical possessions. The Shroud is purported to be the large burial cloth in which the body of Christ was placed during his interment.

Pictures and slides of the Shroud will be presented at the lecture. The pictures indicate a likeness or imprint of a face and body which evidently underwent death by crucifixion.

The lecture and presentation will be given by Dr. Kenneth G. Johnson, currently professor of community medicine and epidemiology at New York Hospital, New York City.

Dr. Johnson served his residency in internal medicine and cardiology at Grace New Haven Hospital, New Haven. He was associate professor in both these fields at Yale Medical School until 1964. In that year Dr. Johnson was appointed Director of the United States Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, Japan, a post which he held until 1967. Dr. Johnson is a Fellow of the American College of Cardiology.

This lecture is sponsored by the Council of the laity of St. Peter's, Rosendale. All are cordially invited to attend.

Three Drivers Ticketed After City Accidents

KINGSTON

Kingston police ticketed three drivers after accidents in widely separated sections of the city last night and early this morning.

Roland Lapiano, 17, of 70 Cedar Street was issued a summons as an unlicensed operator and failure to produce a registration after his car was involved in an accident in front of city hall on Broadway with a car driven by Carole Donna Sabino, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmine Sabino of Leggs Mill Road in the Town of Ulster. The accident occurred at 9:43 last night. Lapiano was taken to Kingston Hospital complaining of a bruised head. Miss Sabino complained of a bruised chest and a passenger in the Sabino vehicle, Betty Elmenor of Siccone Trailer Park, Lake Katrine, complained of a bruised left knee. Richard Moore, 28, of 10 Simonds Road, Williamstown, Mass. was ticketed for failure to keep right and speed not reasonable and prudent after his car struck guard rails on the Col. Chandler Highway at 3:30 a.m. today. Police said that the Moore vehicle struck guard rails on the right side of the highway, swerved to the other side of the road, hitting guard rails and came back to the right side.

Michael A. Terpening, 22, of Honeywell Lane, Hyde Park, was ticketed for speed not reasonable and prudent and a bald tire when his car flipped over on Abeel Street at 4:40 a.m. today.

Joseph Palumbo, 43, of Newburgh, was ticketed for speeding at 9:10 a.m. yesterday by city police.

SHOT TO DEATH

Burton I. Gordin, 50, executive director of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, was found shot to death in a downtown parking garage three blocks from police headquarters in Detroit. Police have no suspects and have found no apparent motive for the slaying. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

That glorious day on which Christ's church had its beginning is fully described in the second chapter of Acts, the fifth book in the New Testament. That single day in history — on Pentecost in Jerusalem 50 days after the crucifixion of Christ — was filled with marvelous demonstrations of the power of God and the fulfillment of divine prophecy and promise.

You will remember some of the background for this mighty event:

(1) Old Testament prophets had foretold of the coming of a kingdom, which would have its beginning in Jerusalem (Isaiah 2:1-3) during the days of kings and would stand forever (Daniel 2:44).

(2) Jesus himself promised to build His church or kingdom and promised that Peter would be given the "keys to the kingdom," thereby granting to Peter the privilege and authority to announce the terms of admission into the kingdom (Matthew 16:18,19).

(3) Christ told His apostles that the kingdom would come "with power" (Mark 9:1) during their lifetime, then after His resurrection He instructed them to wait in Jerusalem for the coming of the Holy Spirit with power, which would inaugurate the grand occasion. (Luke 24:46-49; Acts 1:5).

Clearly, the establishment of the church would be accompanied by the coming of the Holy Spirit with power from on high. These promises and prophecies and others were all fulfilled on this one day.

The Holy Spirit did come with power and moved the apostles to preach in different languages for the benefit of the Jews who had gathered from "every nation under heaven" (Acts 2:5). Peter publicly declared the divinity of Christ and pointed out that Christ had ascended to the spiritual throne of David and was now reigning over His kingdom (Acts 2:29-33). And, significantly, in fulfillment of Christ's promise, it was Peter who first announced terms of admission into the kingdom. To those hearers convicted of Christ and their own sins, the apostle commanded:

"Repent ye, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost" (Acts 2:38).

And a few sentences later, we read of the results:

"Then they that gladly received His word were baptized: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls" (Acts 2:41).

Yes, three thousand conversions on that first day! How were they converted? It was simple, not mysterious. They heard the gospel preached in its purity to have faith, they were convicted of their need to be saved, they repented of their sins and they were baptized into Christ for the remission of sins. They then began growing in grace and knowledge.

Man's need for a Saviour is just as great today as it was for the multitude of Jews gathered in Jerusalem on that day long ago. If you are convicted of Christ as the Son of God, and if you are also convicted of your own sins, the same divine instruction applies to you today — no more, no less. When you are converted to Christ, the Lord in the same process adds you to His church (Acts 2:47). By becoming obedient to the same teaching, you will be added by the Lord to the same church.

Man Arrested On Complaint By Teen Girls

RED HOOK

A 21-year-old Vietnam veteran was arrested by Red Hook Village Police this week on charges stemming from alleged pick-up attempts of young high school girls.

Charles Lewis Ross, of 6 Bassett Lane, was apprehended by patrolman Rexford Maine after several girls had made complaints that a man in a car had bothered them during this week. He was charged with two counts of endangering the welfare of a child and one count of harassment involving three Red Hook freshmen; one was 16 and the others younger. Police said that he had attempted to force the girls into his car.

Town Justice Ellmore Fraleigh remanded Ross to Dutchess County Jail in lieu of $1,250 bail, with a trial set for April 6. Ross returned from Vietnam late in 1969, and is employed as a psychiatric aide at Hudson River State Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. John Aaker Will Speak at YWCA Annual Dinner

Mrs. John Aaker, Young Adult Program consultant with the Community Division of the National Board, Young Women's Christian Association of the U.S.A., will be in Kingston on April 8th to speak at the annual dinner to be held at the Fair Street Reformed Church at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Aaker, who with her husband, John, works closely with many organizations in promoting and developing programs and community leadership, came to the National YWCA following local Association work in Gary, Indiana, where she was a YWCA camp director. She also has served as assistant superintendent in charge of rehabilitation, State Training School for Girls, Birmingham, Alabama, and as education and youth director for Lutheran churches in Waukegan, Ill., as well as a secondary teacher in Savanna, Ill.

Her volunteer and professional experience in the area of community development has been on city, county state, regional and national levels and includes work with such organizations as League of Women Voters, numerous groups supporting the United Nations, the Federal Housing Authority, the Mayor's Youth Council in several communities, Youth Opportunity Centers, among others. She has worked with Church Women United, Jewish Women's organizations, and in the area of mental and public health, and also has a strong interest in community theater programs. NAACP, CORE, the Urban League, the probation courts, and the Council on Crime and Delinquency are among others with whom she has been closely associated, especially in the aspect of young adult services. She is a charter member of a Community School Board in a New York City ghetto, and is Parish Education chairman for a local church.

In 1965, Mrs. Aaker was named to Outstanding Young

Women in America. She is a graduate of Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., from which she received her BA and has done graduate study at both Augustana Theological seminary and a Northwestern University.

Her education travel includes Europe where she participated in a youth exchange program under the Lutheran World Federation in 1960 and was a participant in the European Youth Ecumenical Conference, also the Middle East and Far East in 1962 where she was on an education-trip arranged through the Lutheran World Mission Board and during which she lived and traveled with the people of the countries visited. In 1964, Mrs. Aaker was a participant in the YMCA YWCA Young Adult Conference in Lebanon, Greece and Jordan, and in 1968 she was among the leaders of the YMCA-YWCA Adult Conference in Canada.

Her husband is a director of a community project in Bronx, and she says of her family — "it is a crew of young adults who flow through the Aaker household every year, some staying several years, some staying only a few days. They are of every ethnic background... college students... school dropouts... hippies... straights... divorcees... farm kids... city kids... young professionals... theatre buffs, etc.

Anyone desiring to hear Mrs. Aaker speak at the annual dinner is requested to make reservations before April 2, by phoning the YWCA at 269 Clinton Avenue, Kingston.

Wedding Reported

Miss Lauren Edith Michael, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Michael of New York City, was married on December 20, 1969 to Martin William Launer of West Camp. The candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Reisman and Pastor Walter Cowen at St. Philip's Church in the Highlands, Garrison, New York.

The bride wore a gown of ivory silk, accented with a green velvet bow, and trimmed with lace daisies, and a floor length illusion veil. In her bouquet of white roses were holly leaves and berries.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Evelyn Kahner, and Miss Linda Blatt, Maid of honor was Miss Barbara Gerson, and all were dressed in Juliet style gowns of green velvet. Donald Rothrock served as best man, and Karl Spolony and Ronald Mayer were ushers.

Mrs. Launer is a graduate student in history at Syracuse University, and her husband is completing his Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering at Rochester Institute of Technology. The couple are residing in Auburn, New York.

Fall Choir Workshop Being Planned Now

Announcement has been made of a fall workshop for directors of Children's Choirs, Junior Choirs, Youth Choirs to be held in First Reformed Church, Catskill, on Friday, Oct. 9 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and all day Saturday, Oct. 10 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

General chairman will be Miss Helen VanEas, RD 2, Box 49, Catskill. Miss Cindy Jones, a member of Reformed Protestant Dutch Church, 272 Wall Street, Kingston, will be among those participating.

Mrs. John S. C. (Helen) Kemp of Dallas, Texas, will conduct this Workshop. As Director of Workshops and Festivals for the Choristers Guild, Mrs. Kemp is particularly well qualified. A graduate of Westminster Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey, Mrs. Kemp has worked continuously with children's choirs and the child's voice since graduation. She has done much solo work — as oratorio soloist and as solist with symphony orchestras throughout the USA. She is well known as a lecturer on children's choir methods in training schools, workshops, AGO conventions, college and university campuses. She is a writer for several national publications as well as a composer of children's choir anthems. During the year 1969 she conducted more than 25 Workshops and Festivals. She is the mother of five children ages 12 to 24 all in varying stages of music study and performance. She currently lives in Dallas, Texas, where she assists her husband, Dr. Kemp, Executive Director of the Choristers Guild.

In the hope that many persons can arrange to take advantage of this outstanding opportunity, a special effort is being made at this early date to invite to this Workshop all Children's Choir Directors located within a radius of 50 miles from Catskill. All other interested persons will be welcome. A small fee will be charged to cover expenses. Additional information may be obtained from Miss VanEas on Miss Jones.

White Breakfast Maundy Thursday

On Maundy Thursday, March 26, at 9:30 a.m., all women of the Kingston area and the Reformed Church of the Classis of Ulster are invited to gather at the Fair Street Church to observe their ninth annual "White Breakfast" sponsored by the Women's Guild for Christian Service.

The name "White" refers to a traditional liturgical color which associates Christ as the light of the world and is a reminder of the purity of his life which is sacrificed on behalf of the sins of mankind. Following the breakfast a service of dedication will be held in the sanctuary. The theme of this year's service is entitled "Christ and His Cross."

Committees in charge of the breakfast are: dining room, headed by Mrs. Donald Sweeney; breakfast, Mrs. William Porter. The program committee consists of Mrs. James Beesley, Mrs. Elmore Nathan and Miss Helen V. Bowen. Mrs. William Rylance will be in charge of the music and will preside at the organ console.

Those participating in the program will be Mrs. Elmore Nathan, Miss Helen V. Bowen, Mrs. James Beesley, Mrs. Percy Krom, Mrs. William Stevenson, Mrs. Bernard Feeney, Mrs. Harry Hults, Mrs. Peter Steketee, Mrs. LeRoy Fuller, Mrs. Melvin Lafferty, Mrs. Ebanezer Manee, Mrs. Floyd Ellsworth, Mrs. John Salvatore, Mrs. George Antonetta, Mrs. Edwin Coon, Mrs. Fred Kaune, Mrs. W. Porter, Mrs. Thomas Johnson, Mrs. Raymond Ransom.

A babysitting service will be available also.

Performing Today

The Now Teen Mime Troupe will perform at the New York State Theatre Festival Association's Regional Competition on the State University campus at New Paltz today. The Mime Troupe, comprised of local teenagers from Estelle & Alfonso's school, is under the direction of Benny Reehl, dramatic coach from Hudson Valley Community College.

The repertoire for today's performance will include "Pollution," "Drugs," "Hi-jacking," "Litter," "Life's Carousel," "Society Serpent," "The Zoo," and "Semantics." These local youngsters will be performing with five other groups who are either community theatre or college groups from Plattsburgh to New Paltz. The Mime Troupe's most recent appearance was last week at the Elmsford, N.Y. High School where they received a standing ovation from the student body and faculty members.

Benefit Concert on Sunday

The Penn State Glee Club, under the direction of Douglas Miller will appear in a benefit concert for the Neighborhood Recreation Program at Christ Episcopal Church, Poughkeepsie, on Sunday at 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the door.

Following on the heels of this year's repeating Orange Bowl Champions, the Glee Club is making a number of appearances both in Pennsylvania and in New England.

The Glee Club, founded in 1888 and boasting at that time a complement of nine men, has grown into a polished ensemble of 50 male voices. Its repertoire includes selections from the entire male chorus literature, ranging from Renaissance motets through the most recent works in the idiom.

The Club's schedule, which last year took them to the Southeastern United States, this year includes a tour of New England, with concerts in Elmira, N.Y.; Springfield, Mass.; and Stamford, Conn. In addition, the Club will sing numerous concerts on campus and around the state.

The concert here will include works by Victoria, Gabrielle, Brahms, Randall Thompson, as well as a variety of international student songs and folk songs. Also appearing with the group will be the High Lo's, a group drawn from within the Glee Club specializing in folk songs and popular music, and the madrigal ensemble.

The Neighborhood Recreation Program is in its sixth year of providing recreation for children in the inner-city area of Poughkeepsie. It operates during July and August, all day, five days a week, and offers organized sports, arts and crafts, trips and outings to children not otherwise reached by any summer recreation. It is staffed by neighborhood volunteers and college students, and has served several hundred children since its beginning. The Program is expanding to serve educational as well as recreational help, to help fill the gaps in the children's experience.

Spices Make Easter Dinner Simple

Will the Easter festivities and dinner be at your house this year? If so, you'll want to plan a dinner that will keep you out of the kitchen so that you can enjoy the day with family and guests.

You probably have your own ideas about the traditional Easter fare, but here are a few seasoning suggestions to make foods extra special.

Ed Ehlers, one of the area's spice specialists, tells us it will be simple as A-B-C to put dinner on the table using a canned ham spiced with a lovely flavor without the agony of slicing onions. Salad herbs used in the salad dressing make seasoning simple, too.

And when it comes to coloring eggs for those Easter baskets, pure food colors in the little plastic squeeze bottles are foolproof and easy.

crunchy toasted pecans and frothy whipped cream frosting. Any of the egg leftovers goes right back into the freezer.

Here are a few additional seasoning tips for putting zip in your Easter menu:

Top baked potatoes with sour cream, dill weed and bottled bacon bits.

Brush a leg of lamb with lemon juice. Then sprinkle salt, oregano and a generous amount of crushed red pepper on it; press seasoning into meat and roast as usual.

Add dehydrated salad onions or freeze-dried chopped shallots to your salad for a lovely flavor without the agony of slicing onions. Salad herbs used in the salad dressing make seasoning simple, too.

And when it comes to coloring eggs for those Easter baskets, pure food colors in the little plastic squeeze bottles are foolproof and easy.

Baked Ham

Six to ten pound canned ham

Whole cloves

Three tablespoons cornstarch

One and three-quarter cups water

Once can (six ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed

One-half cup honey

One cinnamon stick

One teaspoon dry mustard

One-eighth teaspoon nutmeg

One-half teaspoon salt

Three oranges, sectioned

Score ham, stud with cloves. Bake in 350 degree oven ten to twelve minutes per pound. Meanwhile, blend cornstarch with one-quarter cup of the water. In saucepan combine orange juice concentrate, remaining water, honey, cinnamon, mustard, nutmeg and salt. Stir in cornstarch and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture boils two minutes. Baste ham with some of sauce several times during last thirty minutes baking time. Add oranges to remaining sauce, heat and serve with ham. Count on two to three servings per pound of ham.

Ice Cream Egg

(Makes 10 to 12 Servings)

Three-quarter cup chopped toasted pecans

One-quarter cup chopped red glace cherries

One tablespoon brandy extract

One tablespoon peach extract

Three pints vanilla ice cream, softened

One cup heavy cream

Three tablespoons confectioners' sugar

One teaspoon peach extract

Colored Decorating Icing

Three red glace cherries

Fold pecans, cherries, brandy extract and one tablespoon peach extract into ice cream; pack into one-half quart melon mold. Freeze several hours or until firm. Unmold onto a chilled platter by wrapping hot towel around mold. Return egg to freezer for 30 minutes or until firm. Whip cream until soft peaks form, gradually adding sugar and one teaspoon peach extract. Frost egg with cream. Decorate egg with prepared decorating icing and whole glace cherries to resemble Easter egg. Freeze until ready to serve.

EASTER SUNDAY FARE — Start with a canned ham, stud it with cloves, serve it with spicy sauced oranges and top off your dinner with a yummy ice cream Easter egg. It's as simple as A-B-C but the results are delicious.

Win Battle of Food Budget

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

As food prices rise, young marrieds find it increasingly difficult to make ends meet. There is no substitute for experience in learning how to plan meals to cut food bills, but the new homemaker may want to heed these tried and true tips for beating the budget:

1. Buy a good, old-fashioned well-rounded with basic recipes cookbook. It will be worth the investment.

2. If you have a freezer of freezer compartment in your refrigerator buy meats in quantity and freeze them. Do not take up a small amount of freezer space with items that cost only a few cents.

3. Cut down on foods that aren't necessities — snacks, olives, cherries, expensive prepared dinners, however, are worth the price — particularly if two people work. You must decide. Fresh or canned foods may be less expensive than frozen foods, weight by weight.

4. Buy large quantities of sugar, flour, meat. You can repack these in plastic bags and store them. Bread, oleo, butter may be kept in the freezer. In some areas, you may save 20 cents on a gallon of milk by buying in bulk instead of by the quart.

There are many ways to cut the meat bill.

Buy meat on sale for two or four weeks at a time. In the beginning this system may dent the food budget, but you will get ahead eventually.

If pork is on sale, buy a loin or more and have it cut into chops. Package the number of chops needed for each meal separately and put the extra packages in the freezer.

A leg of lamb, cut in half, should make two Sunday meals. Or you might have one end cut into chops.

Buy stew veal in quantity. Your cookbook will provide any number of yummy dishes in which it can be used. Try it with tomatoes and peppers, with sour cream, in curry sauce, with vegetables. Divide it for future meals, put it into plastic bags and store.

Enjoy the challenge of making less-expensive cuts of meat taste good. Chuck steak may be marinated and pan-fried or broiled. A thick cut may be pot roasted. Slow cooking is best for chuck.

Chicken is one of the least costly main dishes, points out Muriel Brink, nutrition specialist at the University of Illinois.

She offers these pointers for selecting a chicken:

A whole chicken always costs less than cut-up sections, but many people prefer breasts and legs. The following price comparison will help you decide whether to buy chicken parts or the whole chicken.

If the whole chicken sells for 27 cents a pound, then chicken breasts are a good buy at 38 cents a pound, drumsticks at 33 cents a pound, wings at 21 cents a pound.

If the whole chicken costs 45 cents a pound, the breasts are a good buy at 63 cents or less a pound, drumsticks 55 cents, wings at 36 cents a pound.

If the price per pound of the whole chicken is 55 cents, you can get equal value by paying 78 cents a pound for breasts, 68 cents a pound for drumsticks and 44 cents a pound for wings.

If you find it makes dollars and cents sense to buy the whole bird, use the less meaty parts for broth, in a casserole, in chicken pie or chicken curry.

One last bit of advice: if you've never before cut up your own chicken, ask your butcher if you can watch him do this chore. Otherwise, you can make a real mess.

Easter Brunch Sparkles With Golden Pineapple, Creamed Eggs, Strawberries

As bright as the Easter morn, this inviting brunch will please the family and lots of friends. A ham loaf, egg-shaped and layered with sunny canned crushed pineapple, is a special find for this meal. Golden topped creamed eggs on toasted English muffins and fresh ripe strawberries with cream complete the menu.

For the hostess, the ham loaf is a delight. Mix and shape it into three egg-shaped loaves the night before. Then, in the morning, layer the meat with convenient canned crushed pineapple and bake. For the creamed eggs, use some of the beautifully colored ones that starred in the morning hunt. They are now ready for peeling and serving as Eggs Goldenrod.

Canned pineapple is a delicious and nutritious food that adds its complimentary flavor to many dishes. Serve it broiled with pork sausages for an interesting breakfast idea, with hamburger for luncheon, and as a flavorful surprise with chicken and rice for dinner.

Happy Easter Ham Loaf

One (one-pound four ounce) can crushed pineapple

One tablespoon cornstarch

One egg, lightly beaten

One and a half cups fine soft bread crumbs

Three-quarters cup milk

One tablespoon prepared mustard

One-half teaspoon salt

One-eighth teaspoon pepper

One-quarter cup finely chopped green pepper

One-quarter cup finely chopped celery

One pound ground lean ham

One pound ground lean pork

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. In saucepan, combine pineapple, syrup and cornstarch. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently, until thickened. Cool; set aside.

Mix together all remaining ingredients and divide into three portions. On waxed paper, pat each portion into an oval about five and a quarter by seven and a half inches. Place one oval on baking sheet. Reserve one.

third cup of the pineapple mixture. Spread half of the remaining pineapple mixture over first oval of ham loaf.

Top with second oval; spread with remaining pineapple. Top with third ham oval. Bake 35 minutes. Garnish with reserved one-third cup pineapple mixture. Bake five minutes longer. Let stand five or ten minutes before cutting. Makes six to eight servings.

Best Spring Food Buys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer and Marketing Service reports that a good selection of meat and fresh produce will be available at food stores and supermarkets for the start of spring.

Beef features include ground beef, roasts, and steaks. Pork cuts to consider are bacon, chops, hams, and roasts. Poultry buys include broiler-fryers and turkeys. Fish sticks and portions, canned tuna, and sardines are in good supply.

Top vegetable values are carrots, lettuce, potatoes, celery, onions, and cabbage. At the fruit bins, apples, oranges, and grapefruit are featured. Also look for

The Bomb Scare

The bombs that ripped through three Manhattan skyscrapers started a nationwide scare. Other explosions in Pittsburgh, Pa., and Appleton, Wis., raised the tension, as did threats in Washington, D. C., and Los Angeles, Calif.

A New York City official, fearful of mass panic, said the bombings were the work of a small group and not the start of urban guerrilla warfare. Even the thought of urban guerrilla warfare had an ugly sound following the Chicago 7 trial and the speeches being made by some of the Seven and their lawyer at college campuses around the country.

But that was not the worst of it. We are convinced that any show of urban warfare would be quickly put down. This nation will be behind the forces of law and order should any such outbreaks begin. They would unite the country, black and white, as nothing since the two world wars.

The worst of the bombings was that they demonstrated how to throw big cities into near-panic, how to put fear into the hearts of people throughout the country. The bombers at least warned the police so that the buildings were emptied and no one was hurt. Others bent on destroying the country would not be so considerate. They would take a big toll before they were caught.

Bombing schools and offices is cowardly. The bombers have alerted the country. School and building security must now be tightened. False bomb threats add to terror. We may be sure all this is not lost on the enemies of this country. Nor are our enemies unaware of the existence of those youth inflamed by propaganda, who could serve them as a bomb-planting fifth column.

We don't want to make too much of this situation, but we cannot make light of it, either. Too many recent happenings can make it more terrible than anyone wants to contemplate.

Turmoil in Cambodia

Because it could have an effect on our troops in Vietnam and the outcome of that war, the turmoil in Cambodia is of deep interest to the United States.

Prince Sihanouk, the chief of government, had permitted his country to become a sanctuary for as many as 60,000 Communist troops, in an attempt to preserve the neutrality of his country. In his absence on a tour of Paris, Moscow and Peking, men he had left in charge demanded that the Communists withdraw.

It may be that these officials were doing what Sihanouk wished but could not. Or, it may be that they exceeded their instructions and he will have to reassert his authority on his return. There are all the elements of revolution if the two sides are as adamant as they say they are.

American interest, of course, is in seeing these sanctuaries denied the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong. They use Cambodia to regroup and refresh and renew their attack. If they would stand and fight, they would expose themselves to our firepower and thus help shorten the war.

At least, Sihanouk can no longer deny that his country has been violated by nations he has called friends.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has found a popular new crusade. He is asking the Department of Transportation to ban smoking on buses as hazardous. It is a potential cause of fire, it can reduce drivers' efficiency and it can build up carbon monoxide gases inside the bus. The department will take testimony. Non-smokers, and many who smoke, resent being subjected to smoking in such small quarters, as a health menace, too.

Henry J. Taylor Says

U.S. Editors View Soviet Press

Gannett Newspapers Executive Editor Vincent S. Jones has summarized his recent 12,000-mile visit to the Soviet Union with nine other officials of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

"Pravda," the Communist party newspaper, means Truth. "Izvestia," the government newspaper, means News. A Moscow joke goes: "There is no pravda in Izvestia, and on Izvestia in Pravda." But the group got the first really professional look on a nationwide scale at what's really cooking in the Soviet press.

It wasn't easy. Their admission negotiations began a year ago last December. These bogged down last spring. Then the negotiations were revived in midsummer, but even until the night the editors landed in Moscow they did not know where they would be taken or who or what they would be allowed to see.

At least one-quarter of the U.S.S.R. is officially closed to all foreigners and another quarter might as well be because Intourist, the government agency which controls travel, won't take you there. And the U.S. editors also discovered that visiting American journalists must pay a fee to interview Red officials.

The Kremlin often calls Izvestia the world's largest newspaper: 7.7 million circulation. Actually, Tokyo's Asahi Shimbun is much larger: 9 million. Our largest is the New York Daily News: 2.1 million daily, 3.7 million Sunday. The Philadelphia Bulletin is our largest evening newspaper: 700,000. But, in any case, Izvestia's editors made America's editors seem like dirty deuces in a wet deck.

The French Foreign Legion has an expression "cafard"—a sort of feeling of bored depression. This seems to characterize the government editors of Pravda. Not so Izvestia's. They are party bigwigs. Typical of the immense, callous and often cruel gulf that separates the Communist party hierarchy from everybody else in the Soviet's "classless society." Izvestia's editors are reminiscent of Kipling's Kim on the cluttered road, chewing his stick of sugar-cane and making way for no one below the status of a king.

Moscow's 7 million population lives mostly in 90,000 apartment buildings, crammed into 1,700,000 cubicles. Nearly half these apartments are shared by more than one family and some by three or four families. It would take 1,600,000 more apartments to unscramble this mess and provide unshared apartments. Izvestia's editors, however, party-powerful, are supplied with villas.

The U.S.S.R., of course, has come up with a way of solving the traffic problem: few cars. There is only one outlet in Moscow and it has a waiting list of about 60,000 dreamers. The little Moskvich (a real dog) and the larger four-cylinder Pobeda have wagon-type springs necessarily designed for the country's unpaved roads. But Izvestia's editors are supplied with giant, black Zis limousines. Russia's "dream car" reserved for the party.

In addition they are given respectful salutes by the police, get innumerable fringe benefits that add up to a marvelous gray train and can flash a magical little leather card guaranteed to fix nearly anything.

This carries through to the provinces, our editors found. And they also discovered that the number of provincial newspapers, unknown outside the U.S.S.R., and usually only four pages, is nearly incredible.

Newspapers are our seventh largest manufacturing industry. We have about 1,751 dailies with 63 million circulation, 575 Sunday papers with 50 million and 7,700 weekly newspapers with 22 million. The ASNE group found 2,600 newspapers in the Ukraine alone. And about the only operational complaint was a familiar one — not enough newsprint.

Able editor Jones, who laid a lot of things on the line over there, sees provincial editors now "venturing cautiously to write about matters which once were untouchable." Moreover, the group discovered a Communist party practice of testing public reactions by printing readers' letters and that they are apparently read and acted upon by the authorities.

For example, Kiev's chief newspaper features a roundup called "Thoughts Out Loud." It serves as a kind of Gallup poll column. In the Republic of Georgia and all the way out into eastern Siberia they saw this practice on a smaller scale.

Finally, they found most Soviet editors versed in logomachy but totally complacent — about as uninterested in the American principal of freedom of speech as in a horse race in Ireland.

ed States, Britain and France.

Berlin, though also divided into four sectors, was declared a "special area" which was to be under the joint occupation of the victorious nations. An Allied Control Commission (Kommandatura) was set up for the purpose of governing the entire city.

However, in 1948 the Russians abruptly withdrew from the control commission and, in contravention of the four-power agreement, permitted the Communists to incorporate the Soviet sector of East Berlin into the newly created "German Democratic Republic."

Since then the Soviet position has been that East Berlin is the capital of Communist East Germany and that only West Berlin is a "special area" that can be discussed by the four nations.

Russia's departure from the Allied Control Commission was immediately followed by a blockade of rail, land and water access to the western sectors of Berlin. Stalin's aim was to place inhuman pressure on the civilian population and to force the United States, Britain and France to abandon their rights in Berlin.

His plan was thwarted, of course, by the unprecedented American airlift and the resolute resistance of the people of West Berlin.

However, the Russians and their East German puppets continued their attacks on the status and viability of the western part of the city.

They obviously cannot tolerate a free, democratic and prosperous community with strong ties to West Germany deep in their totalitarian empire.

Communications between East and West Berlin were systematically restricted by Moscow and then completely severed by the erection of the "Wall of Shame" in 1961.

The Western nations have never accepted the Soviet contention that East Berlin is the legitimate capital of Communist East Germany. They will presumably try to raise this question during the new negotiations.

According to the State Department, the talks will be held "in the framework of the four-power responsibilities for all Berlin." But the Russians have already made it clear that while they are ready to talk about the status of West Berlin they will refuse even to discuss East Berlin.

The negotiations, as usual, will be long and probably inconclusive. But it is very much in the interest of the West that they should not be exploited by the Russians and their East German puppet, Walter Ulbricht, as arguments for their theory that West Berlin is a "third" German state with no ties to the Bonn Federal Republic.

Nation's Old People Ask For Break in Money Bind

By TOM TIEDE
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A vast group of disenchanted people in the land are (1) frustrated by lack of communications with government, (2) angered by the apathetic cold shoulder of the population bulk and (3) increasingly prone to, somehow, strike back.

No, they're not the young kids. They're the old adults. Call them what you will. Senior Citizens. The Aged. Retirees. They make up 20 million people 65 years or older, they have problems that rival even the most deprived of minority groups, and they are beginning to realize that they have to shout if they are ever to be heard.

Says one of their representatives: "Old people are becoming more and more militant because their problems are becoming more and more severe and because less and less effort is being made to find solutions. They have gotten a raw deal traditionally. Now they are at the end of patience. They are beginning to group together to demand justice from a position of numerical strength."

The speaker is William Hutton, executive director of the National Council of Senior Citizens — with 2.5 million members and 2,500 clubs, the largest and strongest of the nation's many older organizations.

Hutton doesn't imply that the aged of the nation are about to start tossing Molotov cocktails, to protest their plight, but he does insist they are beginning to use muscle. And with good reason:

"You talk about poverty and starvation. Well, who is poor and who's starving? The old people, that's who. I travel around the country and I see them — shriveled-up men and women, living with nothing, weak from malnutrition, waiting to die. Just one statistic tells their story: three out of every 10 older people in this nation live in poverty, and many of them became poor only when they became old."

Hutton, whose National Council was formed in 1961 — with 41 senior citizens — believes the treatment of the old is shameful, particularly in four areas:

— Retirement income. Hutton says the average social security income for a single retiree is $108 a month. The average for a retired couple, $190 a month. Both fall woefully below the national poverty level guideline.

— Health care. Hutton says Medicare, blessing that it is to the aged, still only provides an average of 40 per cent of total health care. And money spent toward 100 per cent is food out of an older's mouth.

— Housing. Hutton says one-third of the dwellings for older people are in need of major repair. Uncounted others are being forced to move by ever-increasing rents and property taxation.

— Meaningful retirement. Hutton says there is a small pilot program now which employs oldersters in 20 cities as part-time community social workers. "Mostly, however, the nation is resigned to letting its aged waste idly to the grave."

Deploable as conditions are, Hutton says some light is beginning to shine. A new bill in Congress would increase minimal social security benefits by 50 per cent over four years, lessen the financial burden of Medicare, and make it easier for a retiree to earn outside money, without being penalized with an equal reduction in social security benefits.

Officials say there is a reasonable chance some of the bill might make it. Oldersters feel Congress (which has members over the age of 65 itself) is beginning to soften — and the nation is beginning to shame.

But says Hutton, one bill can't right centuries of wrong:

"There are so many problems and so much neglect. Even an immediate 50 per cent increase in social security benefits, you know, would only put an average couple, without outside income, at the poverty line. And each year it gets worse. Because each year more people retire."

"No, the only chance for the old is to use their power. They are 20 million voters, you know. They have to become more vocal, more mobile and more vehement. They can't afford to be docile any more. Let's face it, the nation has left them on the edge of disaster."

DIDN'T YOU EVER HEAR OF "AMERICA THE BEAUTIFUL?"

See New Wave of Violence Aimed at Maiming of People

By RAY CROMLEY

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — This reporter's contacts among the activist groups believe the violent left will turn from destroying property to destroying people.

(Some anticipate political assassinations. But these predictions are based on trends, not certain knowledge.)

As for the facts: Pamphlets now distributed tell in minute detail how to maim policemen.

Home addresses of police are being publicized to subject their families to harassment.

Some explosives found and disarmed were set to go off in schools and stores at hours when the killings and injuring of men, women and children would have been terrible indeed.

The violent ones face problems. Their influence declines. They become isolated from most college students. They fail at recruiting in most high schools. Moderates turn their backs. Even most radicals recoil. They draw within themselves. They splinter on personality and tactical quibbles.

As their influence dies, they get desperate. Each splinter attempts to outdo the other. They feed on public attention. They vie in violence.

The extremes of violence drive more away. But it creates new imitators. (It is not certain all bombings are the work of the violent left or right. Terrorism attracts anonymous thrill seekers.)

The best-known violent groups have well-defined aims. Their targets are carefully chosen. They want society to strike back. They want the police to get frightened and rough. They want the courts to be harsh. They want to provoke repression. They aim at causing the Fascist state. Enough repression, they believe, will bring a revolution. They will lead it.

These violent men and women reason that persistent attacks on certain targets will most quickly bring this repression. Police stations, policemen and their families. Draft boards and draft board members. College ROTC buildings. Offices of major business firms.

When we talk of these violent extremists we are not dealing in large numbers. Nationwide the total is certainly less than 1,000. Perhaps it is less than 200.

At any given scene there may also be hangers-on and onlookers. There will also be nonextremists caught up in the emotions and excitement of the moment.

Violent group leaders are normally from well-to-do families. Some are aided by people of wealth and unscrupulous lawyers. Some are guided behind the scenes by oldersters who goad their volunteer proteges on.

Some of the violent ones have quite high IQs as we measure such things conventionally. But most are emotionally unstable.

What they are concerned with is power, not morality. Privately they will admit to a scorn for both the blue collar and white collar "classes" and for most of their "intellectual" colleagues. Like the Nazis, they see themselves as "superior" men and women.

destined to rule. They therefore, regard themselves as above morality in any sense you wish to define morality.

In short, these are not earnest, idealistic college youths striking at the evils of society, any more than Hitler was. He talked in glowing terms, too.

These are misfits, rejected by their fellows, but capable of a great deal of damage in the period ahead.

Student Benefits Boost Local Campaigns

MOUSE BOUNCE PAYOFF — Officers of the Future Business Leaders Club of Kingston High School present check for $263.17 to Dennis L. Pitcock, county Cancer Crusade chairman. The donation was made possible through the recent Mouse Bounce dance and club booths at the Winter Carnival. Making the presentation are (L-R) Dawn Fitzpatrick, president; Kathy Chmura, secretary; Donna Keyser and Kathy Nealis, vice president. (Freeman photo by Haines).

KINGSTON Benefit efforts by a number of Kingston area teen groups have resulted in sizeable donations to Cancer Crusade and Heart Fund. Other campaigns are underway on behalf of the Children's Rehabilitation Center and the Kingston High School Orchestra.

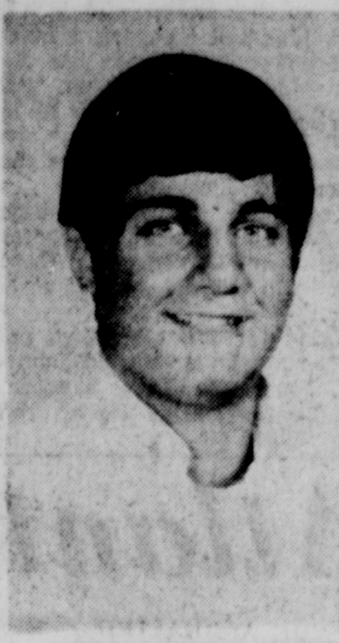

A novel fund raising plan by the Future Business Leaders Club of Kingston High School resulted in a check for $263.17 being presented this week to the American Cancer Society.

Earlier this month the group staged a Mouse Bounce teen dance. Admission to the fun fest was designed to "Send a Mouse to College" for cancer research. Mouse tuition is 29 cents per matriculating student according to Cancer Society figures issued in connection with the promotion.

Carnival Proceeds

To augment dance proceeds, the Future Business Leaders added returns from their booth at the recent Student Council sponsored Winter Carnival.

Taking part in the check presentation at the Cancer Society office, 400 Broadway this week were Dawn Fitzpatrick, president; Kathy Nealis, vice president; Kathy Chmura secretary; Donna Keyser, and Rose Guida, Future Business Leaders Club state treasurer. Another Kingston High School club with community service on its mind is the Leo Club, sponsored by the Kingston Lions Club.

MARK WERBALOWSKY

During the February Heart Fund campaign, members donated two days of their time for the cause. Under the chairmanship of Mark Werbalowsky, the Leo Club collected $889.

Under Werbalowsky's excellent organization, Leo's collected donations in all the shopping centers while he personally manned the main entrance at Britts morning to night on both days.

Active Leos

Because of the fine planning and hard work by all members, the Heart Fund was one of the Leo Club's finest projects. At the Winter Carnival, Leos operated two booths which grossed more than any other participating KHS organization. Vincent Rua was in charge of the pizza booth and Jim Corsone headed the ball toss booth.

The club was founded last year with Bernard Farrell of the KHS guidance department as advisor.

The purpose of the organization is to provide young people with the opportunity to develop leadership qualities through community service. Recent projects have been in obvious alignment with this aim.

The Kiwanis Club sponsored Circle K Club of Ulster County Community College is about to embark on a like campaign. Local members of the international student service organization have volunteered to canvass the Hurley area for the capital fund drive of the Children's Rehabilitation Center.

Circle-K Collection

The capital fund drive for the new center located on Webster Street will be conducted through May 30. A total of $150,000 is needed in the overall campaign for the center which is operated by United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County and serves physically handicapped children of Ulster and Greene Counties. The Circle-K collections will assist in achieving the final goal.

Officers and members of the UCCC club who will be actively involved in the campaign are Harry C. McNamara, president; Greg Haver, vice president; Robert Denter, secretary and Dana Clearwater, treasurer; James Ambrose, Steve Wit-hall, Fred Bordenstein and William Binns.

A benefit of another sort is being planned for April 4. A bake sale will be conducted on that day for the benefit of the Kingston High School orchestra.

Students will be at Sears, Ulster and Greene Counties. Penney stores starting 11 a.m. with offerings from the oven.

More details on this event will be announced next week, according to Jim Nimomya, one of the student planners.

Brown Jug Won by Kingston Girls

KINGSTON Hi Me keeps the Brown Jug in Kingston. At last weekend's regional Y-Teen conference, local girls took top song honors for the third consecutive year with an original lyric by Rita Mary Senor on the conference theme.

Ulster County YWCA hosted the 1970 Upper Hudson Valley Y-Teen Mid-Winter Conference, which centered on the theme "Hi Me! What Are You Thinking?" Junior and senior high school girls from Hudson, Newburgh, Troy-Cohoes and Poughkeepsie YWCAs attended sessions with girls from Kingston and Saugerties Y-Teens.

Festivities started on Friday night with an informal get-together and official welcome extended by Carol Schupp.

Girls from out-of-town were overnight guests of local families. Saturday morning the Rev. Richard Packer, a Methodist minister from Poughkeepsie, directed an experience in sensitivity, followed by various craft workshops in poster making, macramé, and floral bead necklaces. Following these morning activities, the girls stopped for lunch which was served at the YWCA.

After a break for sight-seeing and shopping, the girls returned to the building for dinner. A song contest, The Brown Jug Contest, which is a regular feature of this conference, was held. The girls, from the five associations participating, presented original songs; and, a winner was selected. The Kingston girls were victorious with a song "Hi Me!" written with original words and music by Rita Mary Senor. The words follow:

Hi me, what are you thinking/What are you going to do/Hi me, what are you thinking/Where you go is all up to you.

What is right, what is wrong/Can you take a stand/What is my purpose, who am I/Can someone understand.

Love and hate are all a part of every human man/Will I be strong enough to show a guiding hand.

Someday when I'm older/Will I still be as free/Or cautious with my brother/And give a little less from me.

Now's the time for feelings/Now's the time for trust/To say and act with open arms/Now the time we must.

The conference ended with a candlelight ceremony and many fond farewells.

Onteora Goes Carnival Tonight

THE MONTGOMERIES IN CONCERT

BOICEVILLE Tonight is carnival time in Boiceville.

The Onteora junior class invites the public to join them in an evening of festivities. On the bill of fare are such thrills and chills as a spintangling haunted house, daring tricycle races, fortune telling and the challenge of games of chance. Other offerings for the lucky will be available.

Capping the carnival events will be a concert featuring the Montgomeris, a Woodstock group currently enjoying success in the area.

There is a nominal admission fee with no admission charge for pre-schoolers and elementary school children. Events will start at 7 p.m. and conclude at 11.

Today is indeed a busy day for the Boiceville crowd. Onteora music students participating in the Ulster County Music Festival have spent the whole day in rehearsal for tonight's presentation at Walkkill Central School.

There will be an All-County Elementary Band, Middle School Band, and High School Band.

Those students from Onteora who will participate with the All-County Elementary Band are Connie Bair, flute; Robert Boland, drum; Robert Malloy, trumpet; Mark Thompson, bass clarinet; and Eileen Yuran, oboe.

Performing with the All-County Middle School Band will be Beth Rifenburg, flute; Sue Harris, flute; Nancy Harris, clarinet; Judy Stahl, clarinet; Paul Malek, tenor saxophone; Mary Ann Rother, bass clarinet; and Melissa Bernard, bassoon.

Participating with the All-County High School Band will be Sue Tyler, clarinet, and David Zimet, bassoon.

Onteora's Spelling Team came through with flying colors recently to capture the first-year title in the Hudson Valley spelling competition.

Members of the triumphant team are Brian Chapman, Kathy Flynn, Judy Stahl, Diane Walker and Sandy Winnie. Waldron K. Post was advisor for the winning five.

At the school Bob Short was the winner of Onteora's spell-in for all seventh graders. Eighth grade grammar champions, Lee Ann Houseman and Paul Malek were victorious in the intramural Synchronized Syntax Contest.

No Gap at Boiceville

Communications' gap? Not at Onteora, where Principal John Stefano, who has established an "open-door" policy for both staff and students wishing to discuss anything pertaining to the school situation, met recently with three eighth-grade classes to answer questions in a mock press-conference.

The students, under Miss Marion Smith's tutelage, have been experiencing a variety of exercises in oral communication and are now learning to field questions from an audience. Stefano's appearance was an introduction to a unit in which each student will be interviewed by his class on a subject which he has chosen as his specialty.

Students responded to Stefano's opening comments on the complexities and responsibilities of his position with questions ranging from smoking and bussing regulations to grading procedures and homework requirements. Following the interview, one student, in her thank-you note, wrote, "I admire your honest attitude toward our questions," while another, in a critique of Mr. Stefano's performance said he "had very good eye contact... very good projection and a pleasant voice... These, combined with his knowledge of the answers to our questions, made our 'Class Conference' a pleasant way to spend a period."

Youth in News—Word From Campus

These campus reports are still pouring in with much credit to local Youth in the News.

Word comes from the University of Arizona concerning Michael Scherrer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Scherrer of Box 3, Boiceville. He was recently initiated as an active member of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity at the Tucson, Ariz., University.

A sophomore, Scherrer is majoring in architecture. IFC was elected secretary. He is representative and activities chairman for his chapter. Tau Kappa Epsilon is the world's largest collegiate social fraternity and offers members a chance to demonstrate leadership ability, academic achievement while serving at New England College.

Up in snow country last weekend, Ellen Weiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Weiner of 160 Fairview Avenue, Kingston, escorted her parents around the Vermont College campus at Montpelier.

Parents Weekend was staged there Friday through Sunday. Activities included an old-fashioned sugar on snow party, buffet luncheon, talent show and meetings with the faculty of the two year college for women. Ellen is a first year student.

Other words from New England bring the good news that Andrea Jacobsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jacobsen of RD 3, Kingston has been named to the dean's list.

Paltz. A graduate of New Paltz Central High School he is a junior majoring in speech.

Audrey Joan Moss of Kingston. The Kingston High School graduate is a sophomore at Ithaca, majoring in foreign languages.

Steven John Misner of Woodbourne. A junior majoring in history, Misner is a graduate of Fallsburg Central High School.

Among the 253 students at St. Lawrence University who achieved academic honors for the fall semester is Kathleen K. Schoonmaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford B. Schoonmaker of Route 1, Stone Ridge.

At State University College,

Buffalo, Gloria I Bahl of 16 Colfax Place, Kingston, earned a spot on the Honors List of Academic Achievement for the semester ending in January.

Students outside the state too made honors listings for the past semester.

Darlene Henry, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Brooks N. Henry of 33 Partition Street, Saugerties, was named to the dean's list at Baptist Bible Seminary, Clarks Summit, Pa.

Ralph Veytia Jr., of 66 Hurley Avenue, Kingston, was cited for maintaining a B average at East Carolina University, Greenville, N. C.

More honors and plaudits will be announced next week.

Rondout Valley HS Activities

STONE RIDGE A number of activities are highlighting the calendar at Rondout Valley Central High School.

The RVHS Leo Club was officially organized last week at a meeting held at the high school. The Leo Club is a new young men's community service organization being sponsored by the Rondout Valley and the Kerhonkson Lions Clubs.

Eight young men attended the initial meeting and adopted the constitution and by-laws of their new group. Elected as the first officers were president, Jeffrey Ryder; vice president, Bruce Burr; and secretary-treasurer, Beauford Woods.

The Leo Club is open to all young men ages 15 through 20 in the area. It will develop and carry out community service projects of its own choosing.

The Leo Program was announced by Lions International earlier this year and each of the 21,900 Lions Clubs have been authorized to form a Leo Club. The program aims to give young men ages 15 through 20 gain experience and develop leadership in the area of community service.

Twenty-five students from the Rondout Valley Middle School have been accepted as members of this year's Ulster All-County Middle School Band, to be conducted by Lee Herrington of the Rondout Valley High School and Robert Turner of Highland High School.

Members of the organization rehearsed today at the Walkkill High School for a concert to be presented at 8 p.m. in the Walkkill High gymnasium.

The All-County Middle School Band, composed of 120 Ulster County musicians, will share the spotlight with the All-County High School and the All-County Elementary Band.

Walter Highland, band director at RVMS, announced this week that the following students have been accepted:

Phyllis Spindler and Christine Doyle, flutes; Rocki DeWitt, bassoon; Milton O'Bryon, Robert Young, Judy Highland, Patricia Jansen, Joanne Larabee, Patricia Rogers and Susan Grenda, clarinets; Carol Thompson, alto clarinet; Paul Markle, contra bass clarinet;

Florence Davis, alto saxophone; Eric Kates, tenor saxophone; Robert Porsi, baritone saxophone; Holly Davis, French horn; Jeffrey Miller, trumpet;

Tim Rose, Joseph Previll, Craig Eldridge, William Hessebauer, and Ralph Hiller, trombones; Rolf Koola, bass; Glen Palen and William Lyke, percussion. At the recent talent show staged at the middle school the After Six Orchestra, a jazz rock ensemble from Woodstock took top honors.

Other awards went to Noel Carpino of West Hurley, acrobatic dance, second; Wendy Rose and Carrie Robertaccio of High Falls and Stone Ridge, who played guitars and sang, third.

Special recognition was given the Sauerkrauts a comedy and Germany band made up of faculty members.

TEEN SCENE: On Doing Your Own Thing for the Spring Parade

By LEI

Spring arrived in the Hudson Valley about eight last evening. Typically, a long-range weather forecast for the week ahead is "cold and blustery." Fortunately, spring is more a state of mind than it is a season. Less fortunately, if that weather forecast is at all accurate, another accurate forecast would be that there will be a lot of people celebrating Easter with aspirins instead of jellybeans, because they wore their new spring outfits whether it was cold and blustery or not. Those boots and that maxicoat that looked so together at Christmas start feeling like a ball and chains and you want to go out, and, to coin a dated expression, do your spring.

What are some of the swinging spring things? Take your pick of a wide variety of trends. This isn't going to be one of those years when all the fellows are wearing Nehru jackets and all the chicks are wearing skirts that could be mistaken for belts. This isn't going to be one of those years when everyone is saying the same things and doing the same things. This spring, it's going to be up to you, and not up to some magazine editor to decide what you're going to be like.

And there are enough trends emerging for spring and the summer to follow that you won't have any reason to pick one that isn't exactly what you want. For instance:

When the weather is still cold and blustery, you probably aren't thinking of a suntan very hard. Maybe this will be the year you won't think of a suntan at all, if you're a girl. Maybe this will be the year you'll buy a huge sunbunnet and stay pale and fragile and delicately cool-looking all summer. Maybe you'll wear a long-sleeved chiffon dress on a scorching day next summer and discover it's just as cool as a bikini, and a lot more attention-getting. Also, it gets a different sort of attention. Boys hold doors open for you, and you might get told you were beautiful instead of "cute."

You fellows may leave that hard-won automobile in the driveway and bike to school, wearing the anti-pollution-league symbol on your jacket. If you meet someone who looks like you, maybe you'll get a bike for two. Of course, you can also use a horse and carriage, and probably get your picture in the paper.

You'll be using cosmetics in a new way. You'll put eyeshadow under your eyes, too. You won't look tired, you'll look dreamy. You may try pink eyeshadow and find that it doesn't make you look like you've got an eye infection at all. It makes you look like you're smiling even when you aren't.

There'll be a lot of tied-and-died. There'll also be a lot of stark black. Your mouth is the only decoration it needs.

This will be the year a lot of fellows will feature the bare-chested, low-belted hunk look—with a generous splash of that cologne they got for Christmas. And a lot of guys will discover that unisex goes both ways, and that there isn't necessarily anything strange about a fellow wearing a chiffon shirt, a bright sash, or crochet-knit trousers. (In fact, it might be the perfect outfit for a horse-and-carriage ride.) Perhaps this will be the spring the American male will vault the cosmetics barrier. They did it several springs ago in Europe.

Feet will get a new look in Swedish clogs or little round-toed oxfords or saddle-shoes. After the blustery days are passed, some girls will keep their lips and nails sheer and sweet, and lavish fire-engine red on their toenails. Love beads will be twined around ankles, rings worn on toes, and bright ornaments glued to the instep. Bare feet will be anything but bare.

Whatever you start this spring, you'll get slim and stay in shape. You'll talk with your eyes, and learn to use your hands to express yourself. You'll start a fad of not following fads. You'll say what you believe, and you'll say it loud and proud. You'll commit yourself and have fun doing it. You'll put a new meaning in the word "meaningful." If you can't do what makes you happy, you'll be happy doing whatever you have to do instead. You'll find out who you are, and that's who you'll be. Starting with the first day of the new season.

Maroon Baseball Squad Prepares for Opener

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON—Senior catcher Rick Sorenson led the team in hitting last year with a .372 average and if he can regain his form, the Maroons may also have a good offensive effort. Two first-year men will probably start at the other two infield positions. Rich Freese, a senior shortstop, up from the third base last season, returns to the "hot corner" again this year. Brady is one of the finest defensive ball players in the hitting department. He will probably repeat on the All-Star squad.

Also returning to the infield is second baseman Paul Watzka, another junior up from the J.V.s. Marshall Kithcart, a long-back-up catcher's position between junior Jerry Watzka and senior Larry Crantz. It is Larry Crantz' first time out for the spot, but it appears that he can make the squad.

Last year's "Big Three" pitching staff, that never quite reached its potential, due to injuries and a tough schedule, has been depleted by graduation. But there are three or four boys who may handle the job quite admirably for the Maroons this time around.

Lost to graduation were Ken Gilligan, Pete Helemich and Nick Ascenzo. But, waiting in the wings are JV's George Gealeus, rated by many for instant stardom, and Don Lackaye, another hurler with great potential.

Taking the third and fourth spots are senior Tom Gallo, a "sleeper" in his first year and returnee Bob Cole.

"The pitching may be green," said Cole, "but these boys may be some of the best hitters I have. Don't be surprised to see two of them in those outfield spots when the season starts."

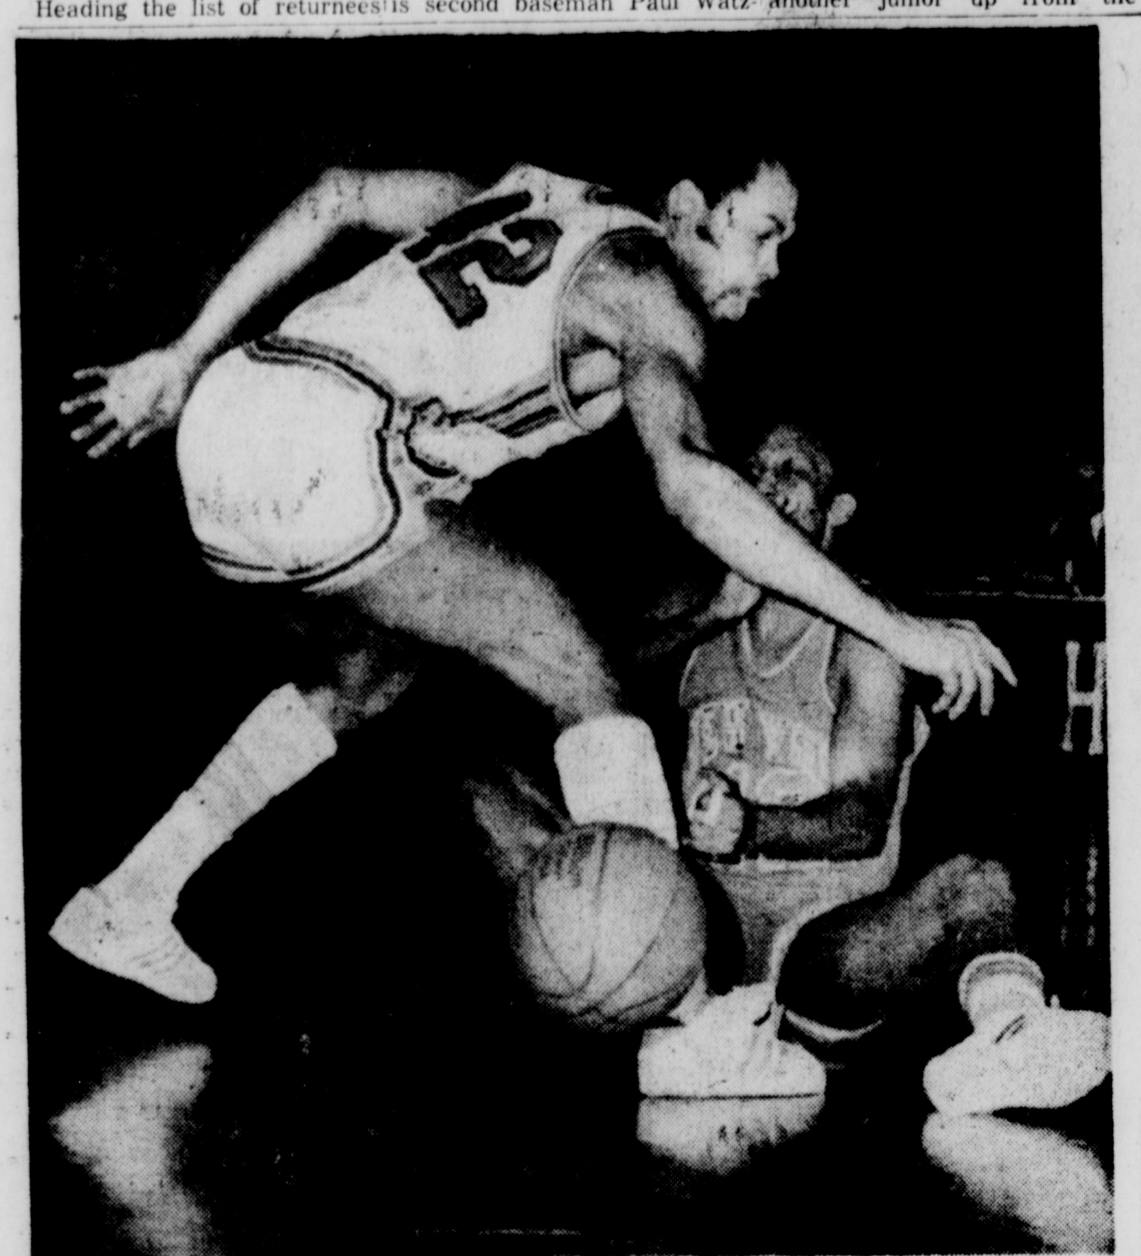

As usual, graduation has taken its toll, with Greg Rios, a .318 slugger, Harry Lyons, who averaged .326 and Ken Williams, at .308 no longer on campus to fill the void.

Bill Neeley will coach the JV, and while his team is far from set, 90 candidates showed up for spring training.

The Varsity Maroons open against Poughkeepsie Wednesday, April 8, a 4 p.m. encounter. They then face Roosevelt in the home opener Thursday, 3:30 p.m. at Dietz Stadium and play host to Arlington, Friday, also at 3:30.

The schedule:

Trevino, Mitchell Lead Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—(for Friday's round). Mitchell pace at the start of Friday's play, shot a 67 in the second round while Mitchell had a 68, Douglass and Sikes both 69 and Bies a 71.

The fun Mitchell referred to was the fact that he was a fat four strokes behind Trevino at the turn—and made up all of them in his dash home.

The big blow was a 140-yard eight-iron shot three homes from the end of the round. The ball bounced on the green, spun to the right and rolled in for an eagle.

"I knew when I heard the shouts from the crowd up on the green that the ball had gone in," Mitchell said. "I just dropped my club and stood there."

Trevino and Mitchell were at 7-under-par 137 after 36 holes—one stroke ahead of Dale Douglass and three ahead of former GJO champ Dan Sikes and Don Bies.

Reed Is Best Pro

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association today named Willis Reed of the New York Knicks the outstanding professional basketball player of the season and Low Alcindor of the Milwaukee Bucks the rookie of the year.

Reed will receive the Sam Davis Memorial Award and Alcindor the Hy Turkin Memorial Award at an Association luncheon Tuesday.

Others to be honored that day are Frank McGuire of South Carolina, the Association's coach of the year; Jim McMillan of Columbia, the outstanding college player in the Metropolitan area; and All America Bob Lanier, voted the outstanding visiting player during the season.

The writers also will pay special tribute to Eddie Donovan, who resigned as general manager of the Knicks to take a similar position with the new Buffalo franchise in the National Basketball Association, and Lou Carnesecca, retiring coach of St. John's University who takes up active coaching of the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association next season.

Cities Prepare for NBA Draft

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cleveland, Portland and Buffalo get into the action Monday when the National Basketball Association holds its annual draft of college players. Houston, the fourth city voted into the league this year, dropped out when it couldn't meet a necessary payment prior to the draft.

NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy said Friday the league would operate as a 17-team unit next season. The four divisions were already set up, but the alignment can be changed if deemed necessary.

Ironically, Houston was one of the cities that did not complain when an original $3.5 million assessment was levied for entering the league.

Kennedy said Alan Rothenberg, a Los Angeles attorney and principal spokesman for a syndicate of Houston and Los Angeles people interested in the franchise, notified him and Abe Pollin of Baltimore, chairman of the NBA expansion committee, late Thursday evening that his group would not be able to make the necessary payment of $750,000.

The total fee is $3.7 million for an NBA franchise and players.

Cleveland picks seventh, Portland eighth and Buffalo ninth in the first round of the college draft. The league drafts in inverse order of finish with Eastern Division champion New York selecting 17th.

Buffalo and Cleveland alternate their selections in succeeding rounds, with Portland always choosing eighth.

His latest blast was a two-run homer off former Cardinal Dave Giusti that powered the Cards to an 8-4 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Allen, who also singled and scored a run, seems to be ready for the regular season even though it doesn't begin for two more weeks. Of course, now the Cards' problem is to see that Allen always shows up during the regular season.

Allen's frequent absences from the lineup of Philadelphia Phillies were one of the reasons why Allen got involved in so many controversies in Philadelphia and was finally traded. He claims he's ready for a fresh start in St. Louis—and the Cards only hope he's willing and ready to play.

In other exhibition games on Friday, Cincinnati routed Philadelphia 10-5, Houston nipped Atlanta 3-1, the Yankees edged Montreal 4-3, the Mets tripped Kansas City 4-3, Boston blanked the White Sox 5-0, Detroit edged the White Sox 8-6, Cleveland downed the Cubs 6-1, California topped San Diego 2-1, Baltimore beat Los Angeles 7-5 and Oakland beat Seattle (yes the team is still called Seattle at the moment) 11-5.

The most frustrated team wintered in Minnesota, which lost its 12th game in 13 decisions. Minnesota rallied for a 6-5 lead in the eighth but Dalton Jones homered in the ninth for pitched six innings of four-hit Detroit to send it into extra ball for the Mets.

Bill Benham Named To Coaches' DCSL

POUGHKEEPSIE and senior Gary Stauderman, 5-7 guard from Poughkeepsie, against White Plains.

Listed on the second team are: Jerry Williamson, Beacon, 6-1, senior; Al Quigley, 6-3, junior, Poughkeepsie; Brad McAlester, 6-2, junior, Roosevelt; Kevin Sullivan, John Jay, 5-8, senior; Roger Patrice, Poughkeepsie, 6-3, senior; Charlie Smith, Poughkeepsie, 6-0, junior.

Benham has been rated by many as the outstanding shooter in the area. The Sawyer guard faced many different defenses, designed specifically to stop during the season, but not many were successful as he hit for 22 points on the overall record.

Despite his size, Benham averaged seven rebounds a game from his guard position. Garrett did an outstanding job for John Jay and kept his team in contention for the crown until the last two weeks of the WHAT'S IT ALL ABOUT? — The scoreboard in the background shows Canada leading 4-1 over Norway but moments later they cracked a count of five to wheel away for their fifth straight win in the World Curling Championship. Third Rod Hunter is crouching to watch skip Don Duguid's rock while Bryan Wood and Jim Pettapiece follow it down. Norwegian skip Josef Bjaanaes is behind the house with other members of the rink watching at the right. Norway had previously won three straight games, the most ever obtained by the country in "Air Canada Silver Broom" competition. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Groups Charging Discrimination

Are independent horse owners discriminated against? A group of 25 Ulster county horse folks seem to think so.

In a letter to The Freeman, signed by Joseph Shulmanki Jr. and 24 other persons, Shulmanki charges that "members of local riding clubs and a few horses were favored in these (Ulster county) shows."

"Last summer there seemed to be some discrepancy about a horse and rider's ability in the ring," the letter says. "Quite a few local clubs were left by disappointed owners."

The letter acknowledged that after much hard work and training, "It is only natural," the letter adds, "that we expect to be individually judged. Whether a horse is registered or a grade (in an open show) should make no difference. How he or she handles and performs is what counts."

"It is hoped that this year will be different," the letter concludes. "We only ask for impartial judging, according to the ability of both horse and rider. Less people would refrain from showing their animals, if they could be sure of honest judgement."

Kolln MVP At Albany

ALBANY Werner Kolln of Kingston was named Most Valuable Player on the 1969-70 State University of Albany freshman basketball team at a recent post-season banquet.

The 6-4 forward led the team in scoring with a 12.6 average and rebounding (153) as the Dane pups recorded a 13.5 mark, second best in Albany frosh basketball history.

Kolln is a 1969 graduate of Kingston High, where he lettered in basketball, golf and cross country. He co-captained the golf team and was chosen All-DUSO League in basketball. Werner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Kolln of Kingston, is a candidate for the Albany golf team this spring.

The well balanced Danes had a strong, deep bench and Coach Bob Lewis substituted freely. Although there was no big scorer, seven men averaged between 8.3 and 12.6 points a game. Ten players and the team manager qualified for the "1973" numerals.

KPA Best Biddy Five

KINGSTON DeMico (39) — Coughlin 22. The Kingston Patrolmen's (KPA) defeated the Kiwanis club, 39-32, Rowels 0, Recs (32)—Cammins to win the championship of the 11. Sottile 7, Albany 6, Winchell Biddy Basketball League in a Shaughnessy playoff. DeMico Motors took the consolation round, 39-32, over the Recs.

Dan Mahoney fired in 28 points to lead the champs to the victory. He received support from Don Timbrouck, who contributed eight. Bill Chaffin was high man for the losers with 17. Mickey Watzka had eight.

Kevin Coughlin and John Glynn accounted for all of the Motormen's points as Coughlin fired in 22 markers and Glynn hit for 17. Jeff Cammins had 11 points for the Recs.

Nodouble Favored

By United Press International. Nodouble, the "Arkansas Traveler" campaigned from coast to coast by owner Gene Goff, carries top weight and the favorite's role today in the $123,600 Gulfstream Park Handicap.

Eight horses are in the field with Nodouble, who ran one of the few bad races of his career when he finished eighth in the Santa Anita Handicap. He will carry 127 pounds and will be ridden by Jorge Tejada.

Ada L. Rice's Twogundan, who won Gulfstream's recent Down Handicap, looms as the chief opposition to Nodouble in the one and one-fourth mile test.

Playoffs Start In Over-30 Loop

Blue Gardenia will meet Esposito's Cleaners at 7 p.m. and Spartan Pool will take on Boyle's A.C. in the 8 p.m. Sunday night game in the opening round of the Over 30 Basketball League Shaughnessy playoffs at the John F. Kennedy School gym.

Blue Gardenia finished in second place with a 5-2 record while Esposito's won the fourth place playoff berth with a 5-4 mark. The Gardenia's are led by former Kingston High All-Duso Star Bob "Smitty" Smith and Bob Barkstall. The Cleaner squad features Joe Tremper and Herm Slicker.

Spartan Pool undefeated in seven games during the regular season and first place winners on third place Boyle's A.C. Boyle's finished with a 4-3 mark. Spartan's are led by Big Bob Boening, Bill DuBois and one of Kingston's all time greats Ron Scheffel. Boyle's have plenty of talent in Mel Williams, Ed Parker and Jim Ferraro.

Dear Abby

On Being 'Too Nice'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am an advisor for a girl's teen club. The mother of one of the girls told me that about three years ago you had two letters in your column dealing with how boys really felt about girls who were "nice" and girls who weren't. She said one was signed "TOO NICE, TOO" and the other was signed "NOT SORRY," and you printed them both on the same day.

If you can locate them, will you please run them again? Thank you.

MRS. A. D. R.
DEAR MRS. A. R.: A sharp-eyed secretary found them in the 1967 file, and here they are:

DEAR ABBY: No offense to you, personally, but you're nuts! I agree with that girl who signed herself, "TOO NICE." She's right. If a girl is too nice she sits home. It's the fast girls who are popular. I am only 16 and I know from experience that the only reason a boy asks you out is for one thing, and if he doesn't get it, you don't see him again. That's no lie, either. When you said, "If a girl has to fight with a boy to keep his hands off her, she must have led him on," you were wrong. She can be sitting next to him, doing nothing, and he will almost attack her. Since January I have had to break up with three boys because they all tried to go too far. But I'll stay nice because I have my self-respect. But so far it hasn't got me anywhere.

"TOO NICE, TOO"
DEAR TOO NICE: Another "nice" girl had this to say on the subject:

DEAR ABBY: I am 18 and have just completed my freshman year at college. I want to tell all those girls who wonder if boys really like a sweet, old-fashioned girl what I learned from experience: Don't be shocked if even the best boys try. After I painstakingly explained my views on the matter of morals many more dates and fine friendships resulted. Some jokingly called me prudish and mid-Victorian, but I was elected to a position of high honor by the student body. There were times when I actually pitied the girls who allowed boys liberties, thinking it would increase their popularity. (I have a brother, and boys talk.) The girls who parked with boys on dark roads at night were ignored by the same boys in broad daylight. Keep telling young girls that it pays to be nice, Abby. I am, and I am—
NOT SORRY

DEAR ABBY: I have been married nearly two years, and I will never forget one wedding present because 16 of my husband's relatives pitched in and bought it for me. It was an electric appliance which they got wholesale. I figured out that they each put in one dollar! One of my husband's sisters happens to be very well off, and now she is moving into a new home and is telling everyone not to buy her a house gift. She wants "cash" instead as she is afraid they might select things which won't look right in her house.

What do you think I should give her?
EYE FOR AN EYE
DEAR EYE: Since you obviously are an "eye for an eye" believer, give her a dollar. But she's your husband's sister, so pass the buck, and let him decide.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to the person who said shampooing the hair too often "damages" it, I am a student of hair chemistry, and I can tell you that shampooing, permanent waving, bleaching, and dying hair will not harm it one bit.

Hair is damaged by pep pills, sleeping pills, diet pills, tranquilizers, and the worst offender being birth control pills! Also, surgery, shock, and nervous disorders rob the hair of lustre and life.

Medication of all types is filtered out thru the hair shaft within two weeks. Anyone knowledgeable in the field of hair chemistry can tell by running his fingers thru a person's hair whether that person is healthy or not. Sick hair accompanies a sick body.

CAROL THE COSMETOLOGIST

Back around 1932, someone wrote that the correct way to play today's trump combination was to lead the eight from dummy. If East showed out, you would rise with the ace; if East followed, you would let it ride and if it lost to the jack, you would finesse against the king later on. This line of play would succeed unless West held jack-small or king-jack.

This was a fair line of play but not the best, which is to simply play the ace and lead toward the queen. This play wins, except against king-jack-small or all four spades in the East hand.

There is an even better play against a weak opponent in the West seat. You lead low toward dummy. Your plan is to play the seven if West plays small. If this loses to the jack, you will enter dummy, lead the queen and plan to finesse. This play loses two tricks if West is good enough to duck with king-small or king and two small.

All this brings us to what may turn out to be the greatest swindle of the '70s.

South knew all the plays and West was a poor player. Therefore, South went right up with dummy's ace of clubs, discarded two clubs on high diamonds, came to his hand with the ace of hearts and led his three of spades.

West followed low and South played the seven from dummy. East won with the king and led back a diamond. South was sure he knew where the jack of spades was but wasn't sure if West was out of diamonds, so South ruffed with the ace of spades and led the 10 for a finesse, whereupon East produced the jack of spades that could never have scored in any other way.

Horoscope

By SYDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny... astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY MARCH 22, 1970

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Do more listening than talking. Your ability to observe without being ostentatious is difference between success and failure. Know this — and base actions accordingly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be moderate — in statements, dining. Some who want to impress you could be doing a disservice. Be your own person. Don't break resolutions concerning health, basic welfare.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Creative touch can solve basic problem. This is a day to finish rather than begin. One who insists on burdening you with problem may not deserve your attention.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Accent on home, practical issues. You get new insight into thinking of one in authority. You realize also that past mistakes can be corrected.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Many ideas are available — so are numerous paths. But it will be your hunch, intuition, that serves as most reliable guide. Accent is on how you handle problem besetting relatives.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Full moon position stresses possessions, needs, money potential. Be versatile. You need not feel tied to one method. Key is to spread your emotional wings.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You should start anew. Refresh your spirit. Take initiative. Exude confidence. Break shackles of restrictions. Find yourself — and give full play to creative expression.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Some areas which had been darkened receive benefit of greater light. You make discoveries. What counts is how you utilize added knowledge. Ask questions. Get answers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Good lunar aspect today coincides with pleasant activities. A friend could present very practical gift. You get what you need, not necessarily what you want.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Accent on how you handle responsibility. Be realistic. Realize those in authority want proof, not boasts. You can evaluate standing if sincere — and persistent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You may have to go after heart's desire. Means take initiative in correspondence, calls. Accept pressure as a challenge. You are capable of surmounting odds.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Interest in unusual subjects is stimulated. You can discover individual who introduces you to new, vital experience. Very good if you maintain self-control. Message clear by tonight.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you think for yourself; you make your own rules, standards. You lean over backward not to hurt others. But you refuse to be restricted by what others might think or do. A change of residence could begin a new cycle, starting next month.

FORECAST FOR MONDAY MAR. 23, 1970

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You may be surprised at reactions of others; a friend could demand a business deal. Take this in your stride. Circumstances may dictate actions of others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your method of achieving basic tasks may take on bizarre appearance. That's good! Break from past. Change routine. Be able to move with the times, to have fun for the sake of fun.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your relationship with one close is subject to dramatic change. Welcome change, travel, variety. Give full play to intellectual curiosity. You are going places.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): What you took for granted may be submitted to radical change. Be willing to alter routine. Property values may become subject for vital discussion.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You may find yourself going in circles. This isn't too bad if you enjoy yourself. But leave routine, details to others today. Be versatile and concentrate on joy, creative living.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Financial picture is subject to change. Don't try to fit everything into pattern. You do best today by going along with changing circumstances. Message is crystal clear by tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Cycle is high; take a chance on your own abilities. Swing away from routine. Bridge generation gap. Get rid of notions which are fuzzy, outdated. You are young in spirit — now prove it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You should have fun. But you should not take chances where safety is concerned. You recently received some warnings. Do not repeat past errors. This can be a day of self-discovery.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Friends may insist on doing things which annoy you. Be lenient. What occurs is but temporary, despite outward indications. Relative communicates — but it is probably mere gossip.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You get support from unorthodox sources. Know that one who appears old-fashioned knows the game. Stick with experience. Everything cannot be done by computer. Human element is needed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Your special abilities gain recognition. You also receive love from one who can make you very happy. This can be a banner day. Realize it, accept it, expect it — build self-esteem.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Money, promises in financial area are spotlighted. Be independent and original. You gain if you are forthright. You lose if you skirt basic issues. Word to wise here should be sufficient.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are dynamic, attractive to opposite sex. You may be impatient now with results in financial area. But new contact will prove beneficial and correct some ills you thought were beyond repair.

'Harry and Lena' on Sunday

NEW YORK (UPI)—Harry Belafonte and Lena Horne pair off in an ABC musical special Sunday that should be a feature of the week.

This network also has play in the Jacksonville, Fla., golf tourney Sunday.

Palm Sunday gets special attention from NBC and CBS. The latter has a variety special Tuesday, starring comedian Tim Conway.

Highlight details March 22-28 (all times EST unless noted):

SUNDAY

NBC has a one-hour Palm Sunday special at 11 a.m. with a repeat of "Canterbury Cathedral," describing a pilgrimage to that edifice on the 800th anniversary of the martyrdom of Thomas Becket.

For this day, CBS moves "Face the Nation" ahead by half an hour into the 12-12:30 p.m. spot.

The CBS bow to Palm Sunday at 12:30 is a repeat of a 90-minute award-winning British film, "Hand in Hand," dealing with an overcoming of prejudices by a Catholic boy and a Jewish girl.

"Meet the Press" is on NBC at 1.

ABC has "Issues and Answers" at 1:30.

ABC presents a National Basketball Association game at 1:55.

The National Hockey League game on CBS at 2 features Toronto and New York.

ABC devotes the 4-6 period to play on late holes of the final round of the Greater Jacksonville Open golf tourney.

"NBC Experiment in Television" at 5 offers "A Bad Case of Shakespeare," a fantastical examination of myths and facts about the Bard, with assistance from Sir John Gielgud, Christopher Plummer, Diana Rigg and David Warner.

NBC's "Wild Kingdom" at 7 repeats "Land of the Falcon," a study of this bird in Wyoming.

"Land of the Giants" on ABC at 7 has "Graveyard of Fools." Earthlings are sent on a diabolical mission by Giant scientists.

The Disney hour on NBC at 7:30 offers a musical-variety hour, "Disneyland Showtime," featuring the Osmond Brothers, E. J. Peaker and Kurt Russell.

CBS preempts "To Rome with Love" at 7:30 to repeat 1969's animated special based on the "Archie" comic strip, dealing with a high school election, under a new title, "The Archie Sugar, Sugar, town cowed by a tyrannical boss."

"Harry and Lena" brings together the vocal talents of Belafonte and Horne on ABC at 8, preempting "The FBI." Solos and duets.

Ed Sullivan's CBS hour at 8 features writer-singer Rod McKuen and the Blood, Sweat and Tears musical group.

"Decision at Los Robles" on NBC's "Bonanza" at 9 has Little Joe and his wounded father trying to survive in a woman ruler.

Hope Springs Eternal at Dem. Convention Time

Hope springs eternal in the Democratic breast when it comes to county-wide elections. The highpoint is usually reached shortly after the convention convenes. The low point comes around 9:30 election night.

Still, it is a healthy attitude. The Democrats say they have a chance against such top GOP guns as Ham Fish, Clark Bell, Jay Rolison, Fred DuBois and Art Chipp.

There's always a chance, of course. Joe Resnick won, with the aid of several hundreds of thousands of dollars. The Demos have dominated the city of Kingston for the past few years thanks to the Rip Van Winkle Party. That's the old Republican party. Remember them? They sacked out about four years ago. Rip racked for twenty.

First impressions can be deceiving but this is the way we saw some of the Democratic nominees at the George Washington School Wednesday night:

DAVID LENEFSKY, State Senate — Looks like a bright guy. Good speaker. Should be good in a debate and in the give and take of campaigning. Comes on a bit strong with statistics. Facts and figures are fine, if you're speaking before a group of accountants. We, frankly, don't trust statistics from politicians. Too many ways to bend them. You generally don't get both sides of the story.

Jay Rolison could be vulnerable. He doesn't hit the campaign circuit like Ham Fish does. The last time we remember Rolison in Kingston was last summer on a meeting about the Ulster arterial at city hall.

Lenefsky looks and sounds something like John Dyson, the great hope who failed to return from the wars to run for Congress again. He should run a good race.

ALEX NIRENBERG, District Attorney — Nirenberg, like Lenefsky, impressed us as a good speaker. Nirenberg will apparently campaign as a sort of crusader rabbit, which is fine, if he doesn't get carried away. There's a fine line between a genuine critic and a raving nut.

Nirenberg's acceptance speech was interesting in that he didn't attack District Attorney Joseph Torraca directly. He did attack his assistants.

One of Torraca's assistants is Frank Vogt, Nirenberg's apparent opponent. This campaign could wind up as a very personal affair.

MIKE JOHNSON, Coroner — Johnson could use a little practice at the podium. Apparently talking to strangers isn't his forte. One of the reasons given for choosing Johnson was that as an accident investigator he has a lot of experience with fatal accidents and should be a good coroner since that's what a coroner allegedly does. Interesting reasoning.

Stan Petro, never at a loss for words, commented that anyone named Johnson from Texas should be a good candidate. Good thing the guy's name wasn't Reagan from California.

PLEADING IN VAIN—Cleveland Detective Robert Bolton pleads with cornered robber, Danny Smith, 22, not to shoot himself. Police persuaded Smith to put the gun down and talk to his estranged wife. When an officer tried to jump him, Smith turned the gun on himself. Police, in photo below, rush Smith to the hospital with gunshot wound to the head. He is listed in critical condition. (UPI WIREPHOTOS)

Rising Prices Feed Inflationary Spiral

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The further rise in the consumer price index reported Friday pointed up the conviction by high officials dealing with economic policy that "we're not out of the woods on inflation by a long shot."

At the same time these government officials, who cannot be further identified, said fiscal and monetary restraints have dampened the inflationary trend and that caution now has to be exercised against provoking a recession.

These officials categorically disagreed with the confident assertions earlier this week by Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the Republican House Leader, that inflation definitely has been stopped and there is no danger of recession.

In their view, enough inflationary pressure still remains that it would be helpful for President Nixon to do "a little preaching" to business and labor in general about the need for moderation in price and wage increases.

Dr. Arthur F. Burns, new chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, told the Senate Banking Committee Wednesday that he wished Nixon would do just that. It is known Burns has urged such a course on the President in the past, without success.

The officials who assessed the economic outlook and the price trend Friday said "excess demand" by buyers has been eliminated and the "markets" are becoming more competitive. They keep expecting this to cause price rises to taper off, but this has not happened yet.

But even while prices continue to rise, restrictions on money have been sufficient to cause some slowdown in business and the danger of recession has to be guarded against. One of the officials who reviewed the outlook summed up that aspect this way: "We have no recession now and I don't think there will be one. But the possibility is there and has to be taken seriously."

That Old Man Named Winter Darkens the Dawn of Spring

By United Press International
Today was the first full day of spring, but it made little difference to lingering "old man winter." A snowstorm swept across the upper Midwest Friday before retreating into Canada.

While snow fell in Michigan today, the forward edge of the storm grazed the extreme Northeast with light snow. South of the snow belt, in warmer air, the snow changed to rain, mixed with occasional sleet, from New York and Pennsylvania into southern New England.

Another area of precipitation extended from east of Delaware along a cold front to the north central gulf region. In the Southwest, moist air was carried westward across Texas to New Mexico, where the rain today changed to snow.

Up to six inches of snow blanketed Abilene, Tex., while four inches piled up in northwestern Texas in Lubbock and Midland.

At Mineral Wells, Tex., about 50 miles west of the Fort Worth-Dallas area, an inch of new snow fell in six hours for a total of two inches. Stockmen's and travelers' warnings were in effect for Montana east of the Continental Divide as snow was expected to increase and spread south and east, accompanied by strong cold northerly winds.

Elsewhere, some light rain fell in the far northwest and a few snow flurries descended in northern Idaho and northern Montana.

Clear, dry weather extended from the Southwest across the central Rockies and the northern and central Great Plains to the western Midwest. In Florida it was warm.

Temperatures at 2 a.m. EST today ranged across the nation from 8 at Laramie, Wyo., to 74 at Key West, Fla.

On another front, Nickerson says Goldberg has accepted his challenge to a televised debate prior to the April 1-2 nominating convention. Nickerson says he and Goldberg agree the other major candidates should also appear on the program.

Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, a Buffalo Democrat and U.S. Senate hopeful, gave his "unqualified endorsement" to Goldberg's candidacy, but predicted a tough primary fight.

Republican State Chairman Charles Lanigan predicted that Governor Rockefeller will beat Goldberg in November if Goldberg turns out to be the Democratic candidate.

Lanigan, speaking in a broadcast interview over WPTZ, said Goldberg has never been in the political arena before and "has no experience in heavy administrative problems such as running a state like New York."

Referring to the use of the new primary law for the first time in a gubernatorial campaign, Lanigan said it would

JOE SACCOMAN, Treasurer — Jansen Fowler told about the days that he and Joe used to campaign in the Italian sections of the county and Joe would speak to the residents in Italian and offer a few songs. Joe's acceptance speech was Greek to us. He's tough to follow. Sounds like Casey Stengel.

Joe's a good fellow, though. He's worked hard for the party all his life and has friends all over the place. Maybe, with a little bit of help from his friends . . .

GEORGE BARTHEL, Assembly — George looks like the kind of a guy who should be a United States Senator . . . the white hair and all . . . very distinguished . . . First, of course, he has to get past Clark Bell.

Speaking of H. Clark, we wonder how many people picked up that quote of Bell's in Tuesday's Freeman story about the pure waters adoption by the assembly.

Along about the middle of the story it reads thusly, "One example, he (Bell) said, was the agency's plan to build a landfill along the Wallkill Creek in Ulster County where flooding could create a 'floating dump.'" Bell said "the Indians warned the Huguenots of annual flooding 400 years ago but the fact remained unknown to the agency until recently."

Four hundred years ago! That makes it 1570. Henry Hudson didn't make it up the river until 1609. Bell really digs to make a point!

LOUIE STRIKES OUT — Now there's a misleading lead. We're referring to Louie DeCicco, the city clerk and his activities with the Kingston National Little League. Lou has been active with the League for a number of years and this year replaced The Freeman's Charlie Diers as president. Louie is striking out at vandals who have done a real nice job of ruining the league's ballpark. A "very special meeting" is set for Tuesday, March 31, at 7:30 p.m. at the VFW Hall on Delaware Avenue for all parents, coaches and officials of the league. Project: fix up the park for the May opening of the season. Those people do a good job with the kids and deserve all the help they can get.

THE CLUB — Word is that Bob Gallo is trying to establish an Aldermen's Club, on a strictly social basis. Membership would be closed to the public but open to any alderman or former alderman. Sounds a lot like the club they've got at city hall right now.

MONEY MATTER — Last week we inadvertently gave Special City Judge George A. Beck an $800 salary increase. We said the judge makes $2,500 per year. In fact, we've been informed, he earns $1,700 per year.

Beck started out four years ago at $1,000 per year, was raised to $1,200 per year and starting this Jan. 1, was raised again to $1,700. This works out, after deductions, to about $25.50 per week.

If the city fathers choose to pay their special city judge peanuts, that's their business. The city fathers, however, have chosen to pay themselves $2,150 per year each and $2,500 per year for the majority and minority leaders.

It's difficult to believe that an alderman is worth more than a judge, but that's the way it is.

Fortunately, the city gets more than its money's worth from Judge Beck.

Candidates Are Jumpy As Convention Nears

United Press International

With less than two weeks remaining before political nominating conventions, candidates and non-candidates continue to jump in and out of contention.

Sen. Charles E. Goodell is spending the weekend writing an announcement of candidacy as he formally jumps into contention for election to a full six-year term.

Joseph Ettinger, meanwhile, announced Friday he has dropped out of the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nod. Ettinger, a New York City attorney, threw his support to Arthur Goldberg.

Goodell, a Jamestown Republican, is expected to announce his candidacy at news conferences in New York City and Buffalo Monday. The 44-year-old lawmaker served in the House for 10 years before being named by Governor Rockefeller to fill the unexpired term of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Goodell was considered somewhat conservative during his House years, and controversy has developed in the past year over his swing to the liberal side.

Sunday's scheduled appearance by Goldberg on a nationally televised news interview program has prompted a request from other Democratic gubernatorial hopefuls for equal broadcast time.

Goldberg is to appear on NBC's "Meet the Press." Eugene H. Nickerson fired off a telegram to the network saying it would be "extremely unfair" to provide statewide exposure to only one candidate.

The Nassau County Executive said the failure to provide equal time would violate Federal Communications Commission regulations.

Another Democratic gubernatorial contender, William J. van den Heuvel joined Nickerson in demanding equal broadcast time prior to the nominating convention.

On another front, Nickerson says Goldberg has accepted his challenge to a televised debate prior to the April 1-2 nominating convention. Nickerson says he and Goldberg agree the other major candidates should also appear on the program.

Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, a Buffalo Democrat and U.S. Senate hopeful, gave his "unqualified endorsement" to Goldberg's candidacy, but predicted a tough primary fight.

Lanigan, speaking in a broadcast interview over WPTZ, said Goldberg has never been in the political arena before and "has no experience in heavy administrative problems such as running a state like New York."

Referring to the use of the new primary law for the first time in a gubernatorial campaign, Lanigan said it would signal an earlier start on the formal campaigning. But he said much of the campaign work won't get under way until September or October.

In previous gubernatorial elections, state nominating conventions were held in September. Under the new law, conventions are held in early April, and primaries — where needed — are held in late June.

Lanigan said the GOP's rank and file are still solidly behind Sen. Charles E. Goodell's bid for a full six-year term.

"The Republican party really is it's in the minority by one million votes," Lanigan said, and we must have a clear range of candidates to attract support from the Democratic, Liberal and Conservative areas or it is impossible for us to win." He said Goodell's name on the ballot would provide a well-balanced ticket.

MARTIN LUTHER KING JR. funeral procession in Memphis, Tenn., on April 3, 1968 is one of the dramatic historic moments in "KING: A Filmed Record . . . Montgomery to Memphis." The full length film will be presented on a one-night only basis simultaneously in over 1,000 U. S. theatres. In this area, audiences will be able to see it Tuesday, March 24 at 8 p. m. at Hudson Plaza Theatre, South Road, Poughkeepsie.

A One-Time Only Film Event With Elite Cast

By all standards, it will be an extraordinary event. Beginning with the Montgomery bus boycott, it will cover 13 years of "prayer pilgrimage," sit-ins, freedom rides, police dogs and fire hoses, the "I Have a Dream" March on Washington, the Nobel Peace Prize, the Selma and Meredith marches, the Poor People's campaign, the pain and grief of mourning his death.

It is "KING: A Filmed Record—Montgomery to Memphis," and on March 24 more than 1,000,000 people will see it in 1,000 U.S. theatres. The commemorative movie paying tribute to Martin Luther King Jr. will be shown once and once only at special "theatre parties" to raise a hoped-for $5-million to aid organizations dedicated to the late Dr. King's principles and ideals.

Residents in this area are cordially invited to participate when the event takes place Tuesday evening, March 24 at 8 p.m. at the Hudson Plaza Theatre, South Road, Poughkeepsie. All proceeds will go to the King Special Fund, and use of the theater has been donated. The Hudson Plaza is the only theater in the Mid-Hudson area where the film will be shown.

An Elite Cast

As a movie, it is one of the most moving ever produced; features one of the most distinguished groups of show business elite ever to join forces on a single motion picture. Seven Academy Award winners, three recipients of television Emmy awards, and two of Broadway's Antoinette Perry Award winners donated their very special talents to a series of symbolic readings covering Dr. King's life and work.

Among them are Harry Belafonte, Diahann Carroll, Ben Gazzara, Charlton Heston, James Earl Jones, Burt Lancaster, Darren McGavin, Walter Matthau, Sidney Poitier, Anthony Quinn, Leslie Uggams, Clarence Williams III, Ruby Dee, Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward—all of whom make special appearances in the film.

Two distinguished directors, Joseph L. Mankiewicz and Sidney Lumet, worked on this professionally made documentary in honor of the slain black leader. The one-time only, simultaneous world premiere will help to continue Dr. King's work and serve as a dramatic tribute to his memory.

The film is being sponsored in this area by the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Commemorative Committee; has the support of Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., who is expected to attend the one-time showing in Poughkeepsie.

Tickets Now Available

Tickets for the special area performance are $5 each. They are available at the Hudson Plaza Theatre box office; Beacon's St. Andrew's Episcopal Church; Arlington's Three Arts; Newburgh's Oja Yoruba Shop; and Poughkeepsie's Volunteer Service Bureau and Mid-Hudson Herald. They may be ordered by mail from the Dutchess County Council of Churches, 75

Palm Sunday Afternoon Brings Musical Rewards

Palm Sunday afternoon, March 22, three distinguished members of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic will provide area residents with a choice opportunity to hear an all Beethoven program of chamber music. Being sponsored for the benefit of the HV Philharmonic Society, the concert will begin at 3 p.m. in the Elementary School Auditorium in Woodstock.

Edward Simons, violinist, L. Garcia-Renart, cellist, and Huguette Van Ackere, pianist, who form the Chamber Music of the Hudson Valley Trio will perform Beethoven's "Archduke" trio, the Sonata in A for violin and piano, and the Variations on Mozart's "bei Mannern" for cello. A program of this caliber played by these fine artists has great appeal for music listeners of all ages.

Simons is currently assistant conductor and concertmaster of the Philharmonic, director of the Community Music School of Spring Valley and chairman of the Music Department of Rockland Community College. He came to this area with a broad musical background in playing (the Pittsburgh Symphony, the Symphony of the Air), and in conducting (the Ballet Theater, Broadway musicals like "Camelot"). He was also the founder and conductor of the Suburban Symphony of Rockland County from 1952-1963. His numerous appearances in this area are frequently with the Monteux Chamber Players and as conductor of the Philharmonic's Orchestra in Progress.

Garcia-Renart, today a member of the faculty at Bard College and first cellist with the Philharmonic, began his vast musical experience with the guitar as a young boy in Mexico, shortly after moving there from his native Spain. His artistry as a cellist has developed from studying all over the world under such masters as Rostropovich and Casals, and has led to recognition and prizes from France, England, Russia and several Pablo Casals Interna-

Inescapable Versatility in Foundry

17—THE DAILY FREEMAN, MARCH 21, 1970

THE POURING PROCESS is the crowning touch to all the creative work done by the artist and all the technical perfection required by foundry employees. It is the link between the creative individuality of the sculptor and the men who cast his work in bronze.

RAPHAEL MARTINI and helper don heavy gloves and face masks when "pouring day" rolls around every few weeks at now functioning bronze foundry in Wittenberg.

TWO FINISHED PRODUCTS—a bronze cat and a large urn—sit side-by-side on a foundry bench. They are among some of the "smaller" sculptures produced there recently, but the large capacity foundry is capable of handling statues up to eight feet tall.

The weathered barn that stands behind the house on Wittenberg Road and the two gleaming propane tanks in the adjacent field give little indication to the passing motorist of what goes on inside daily.

But within the walls of this once empty barn, a talented young artist is combining his technical skill with the creative individuality of the sculptor. In Raphael Martini, a red-bearded young Italian transplanted to the Catskills, one finds living proof that the artist can learn much from the technician in the use of his tools and the perfection of technique. And becomes aware, too, that the metal working craftsman should remember that he is not only a technician, but an artist as well.

Martini, who came to this country only three short years ago from his native Italy, has combined Roman versatility with Yankee ingenuity to set up a totally functioning bronze foundry in Wittenberg. It is the only foundry of its type between here and Long Island, and much of its equipment is so ingenious that it staggers the imagination.

A Rare Inventiveness

The soft-spoken and hard-working Martini takes little credit for his inventiveness, but the fact remains that he was able to save thousands of dollars on machinery by turning an old mowing machine into a much-needed crane, and transforming a one-time milk separator into a centrifugal caster.

A sculptor who has shown his towering female figures, free form blocks and commissioned heads in exhibitions in San Francisco, where he lived for more than two years before coming to Wittenberg, Martini knows only too well how expensive it can become for a sculptor who wants his work cast in metal. Where he differs is that he learned the art of casting his own work during the three years he spent at the Academy of Rome. The foundry operating processes he excelled at during his Italian career have become the basis for his recently opened Wittenberg bronze foundry.

That the rather small and once empty barn on the Martini property near Mt. Tremper houses a large capacity foundry comes as a surprise to a visitor. It is equipped to handle sculpture works up to eight feet tall; is proving so attractive to area artists that Raphael is now training two men to help with the work load. The theory behind this move is to put the foundry at

WORKER OPERATES heavy crane ingeniously devised by Martini from an old mowing machine. Further proof of the young sculptor's versatility was his inventiveness in providing foundry with a centrifugal caster from a former milk separator.

INTENSITY OF HEAT required in casting of sculpture pieces is reflected in this photo. The Wittenberg foundry is equipped with a very deep underground kila which has proved its worth time and again during the wax burning process. (All photos by Freeman photographer Bob Haines)

RON SANDERS (in white hat) lifts his partner high in the air as the photogenic folk dancers of the Novo troupe join hands during outdoor practice session at the Ashokan Reservoir. Sanders will conduct folk dance classes, beginning March 29, at Kingston's Jewish Community Center. (Erik Van Cort Photo)

International Folk Dance Classes Scheduled

One of the more pleasant attractions of learning folk dancing is that absolutely no experience is required. An additional lure is that mastering dances as they are done in Armenia, Greece, Israel and other countries offers fun galore.

That's why Tempo readers should know in advance that the Kingston Jewish Community Center has engaged Ron Sanders, a folk dance artist of wide experience, to conduct a series of folk dance classes. The sessions will begin Sunday, March 29 at 7:30 p.m. at Temple Emanuel here.

The classes will be open to the entire community and, since most of the dances use circle and line configuration, singles as well as couples will find enjoyment in this style of dancing.

Sanders has toured widely as a performer and instructor. Since settling locally last summer, he has taught for numerous organizations and camps in this area; has taken his Novo Dancers troupe to performances all over the Mid-Hudson Valley and the Catskills. He and his dancers have been featured in many school assembly programs locally, at teen centers, civic groups, churches, Coach House Players and Performing Arts of Woodstock, and at indoor and outdoor fairs and festivals.

Those who elect to attend the classes at the Jewish Community Center will be treated to instruction in a dance repertoire culled from such countries as Russia, Scotland, Israel, Armenia and Greece.

The First Easter Locale in Tempo

"The First Easter Locale" is a superb feature for Easter 1970; will be appearing in Tempo's March 28 issue. It is a tabloid-size map tracing the steps of Jesus in the areas where he spent his entire earthly experience. To make it double fascinating, the events which took place in each area are pinpointed by specific biblical references.

On the map, you follow the travels of Jesus (Bethany, Bethlehem, Golgotha, Jerusalem, Nazareth, Sea of Galilee), while from the Bible, you read the words and deeds that have influenced the entire world and historic presentation.

Unique Lenten Treat

An attractive musical program of special Lenten season interest will be presented at Kingston's Old Dutch Church this Sunday, March 22 at 5 p.m.

Old Dutch's acclaimed Motet Choir will combine talents with the adult choir from Middletown's Horton Memorial Presbyterian Church in singing Gabriel Faure's beautiful "Requiem." It will be offered in Latin, directed by Middletown's Gerald Anderson, and accompanied by Miss Cindy Jones of the Kingston church. Featured soloists will be soprano Gloria Simmons, baritone Warren Simmons, alto Collette Sonnenberg and tenor John Breithaupt. Also on the program for the combined choir, in addition to "Requiem," will be Cesar Franck's "Psalm 150."

Both at Westminster

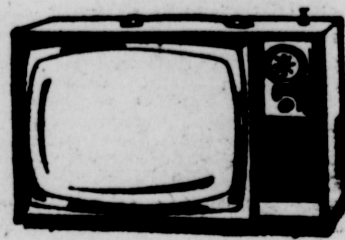

Director Anderson served as minister of music at the Old Dutch Church in 1960; is an alumnus of Westminster Choir College, as is accompanist Cindy Jones.

The Lenten attraction on Sunday at 5 p.m. will be presented in the sanctuary of the local church and the public is invited to attend. There is no admission but a free-will offering will be taken to help defray necessary expenses. A reception will follow in Bethany Hall.

The combined choirs will repeat the unique program in Middletown on April 12 with Miss Jones conducting and Mr. Anderson at the organ.

Theatre Adventures Sends the Audience Overseas

For 50 years, the Theatre Guild has been sending plays on tour across the country. Now it has begun touring the audience as well.

A series of "grand theatre adventures" abroad will enable any theater devotee to attend 20 or more plays, musicals, operas, ballets and festival films in the cultural capitals of Europe. The Theatre Guild will make all arrangements and send a distinguished American or British critic along with each group as host.

Elliot Norton of the Boston

Record American, who is considered dean of American drama critics, will escort the party leaving New York on May 5. The 22-day trip will begin with four days at the Cannes Film Festival, then continue to Berlin, Moscow, Leningrad and London before returning to the U.S.

An August Trip

Norman Nadel, cultural affairs writer of the Scripps-Howard Newspaper Alliance and formerly drama critic of the New York World-Telegram and Sun, will be host for the group leaving New York on Aug. 10. That itinerary will include Stockholm, Leningrad, Moscow, London and the Edinburgh Festival.

A third trip, also 22 days, will depart May 9 to visit the Cannes Film Festival, Milan, Tel Aviv, Jerusalem, the Vienna Theatre Festival and London. The critic-host of that trip will be announced shortly.

Most inclusive theatre adventure, and the first to leave, is the grand Round The World tour, starting April 22. The 38-day theatre excursion will visit Hawaii, Japan, Hong Kong, Thailand, Nepal, India, Iran, Turkey, Austria and England.

Escort will be Romney Brent, who appeared in a number of early Theatre Guild plays as a young actor and has since distinguished himself also as a writer.

The mobile audiences will travel via Pan Am and connecting European airlines. Their theatre tickets, transportation, hotels, sightseeing and other needs will be arranged and reserved before they leave New York.

Information about the tours is available from The Theatre Guild, 226 West 47th Street, New York City, 10036.

Berkshire Art Beckons Again

Area artists will want to know that entry day for the annual regional spring exhibit of Berkshire Art Association is tomorrow, March 22. All artists in all New England states and New York are being offered an opportunity to show work of their choice in the prestigious Pittsfield, Mass. exhibit, whether amateur or professional.

Artists are eligible for the spring exhibit by paying the $5 BAA membership dues. Each may submit one work—paintings in any medium, pastels, prints, drawings, collages or sculptures—and all entries will be displayed at the Berkshire Museum.

Work should be submitted at the museum this Sunday from 2-5 p.m. The prize fund for the spring show will include three cash prizes and three honorable mentions. Named to judge the show was Stanley Bate, painter and former BAA president, whose own work is now on exhibit at Albany Institute of History and Art.

A public reception feting BAA exhibitors and prize winners will open the Berkshire show on April 5 at 2:30 p.m. Free and open to the public, the show itself will run through May 5.

BACK STAGE CREW of PAW's double bill has reason to strike happy pose. Special effects they created (giant puppets, screens that unfold by themselves, bursting balloons, and flags that sprout on stage) help to make PAW's plays a technical tour de force. As technical director Howard Day

Back Stage Forward For a Deserved Bow

There are four actors and one actress in Performing Arts of Woodstock's double bill, "Gem of the Ocean" and "Pickpocket," two one act plays by Ron Radice which have been playing Woodstock's Town Hall these March weekends.

Through weeks of rehearsals the actors learned their lines and grew into their parts. Always on hand to block their movements on stage and help them understand and interpret the characters they would be portraying was director Steve Callahan.

But when the curtain went up for the first time on opening night, it was the crew back stage that was responsible for seeing that the show "came off." Because of their inventive expertise, it came off better technically than any other local amateur production in memory. "Gem" particularly was a tour de force for the crew. An experimental play that is also a maze of technical surprises, it owed much of its stunning affect to the staff. It took the prop men, dressers, wardrobe mistress, assistant director, stage manager, tech man, sound man, and lighting director—all working at split second speed—to bring it all "off." That they did has been verified by the applause from each succeeding audience.

The final performance of "Gem" and its companion piece, "Pickpocket," will be given tonight, Saturday, March 21 at Woodstock's Town Hall, Tinker Street. Curtain's at 8:30 p. m. and there's a special low rate for students. Reservations and information available by calling 679-2920.

BENEATH THE GROTESQUE MASK is actress Pearl Blackman, who portrays Miriam, the Colonel's wife, in "Gem of the Ocean," one of two plays being performed currently by Performing Arts of Woodstock. Actress Blackman literally grows taller and broader with each succeeding scene via clever inventiveness of back stage crew.

About the Cover

Cuddling up to a cozy fire starts to lose its allure toward the end of a long, hard winter. If you're ready to indulge the urge to get out and go, why not start planning a trip to Olana, which opens again for the season in April.

You can delve into New York history at Olana, once the home of Frederic Edwin Church (1826-1900), one of the first American painters to gain international recognition. Church was a leading exponent of the "Hudson River School," whose trademark was a dramatically arranged, romantic landscape.

He built Olana ("Our Place on High") in 1870-72, adding a wing in 1888-89. Situated on a hill, the estate overlooks a magnificent view of the Hudson River Valley 500 feet below. Designed by the artist himself, Olana shows Church's interest in Persian and Moorish styles, especially in the painted archways and tile work. It also displays pronounced touches of Italian Villa and East Indian design as Freeman photographer Bob Haines' Tempo cover this week shows.

A Global Traveler

Church painted heroic views of mountains, lakes, tropics, deserts and polar regions. His extensive travels took him to Labrador, South and Central America, Europe, and the Near East. Olana and its furnishings vividly demonstrate Church's interest in the culture and scenery of these regions.

Olana is only a short drive from Kingston. Take the Thruway or Route 9W to Catskill, cross the Rip Van Winkle Bridge, and just south of Hudson on Route 9G, you'll find one of the most historic of historic sites. Visiting schedule at Olana runs from April to November with daily and Sunday hours from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Picture yourself at the Paris Opera.

You almost can when you climb the "million dollar" staircase in the New York State Capitol Building in Albany.

The "million dollar" staircase is said to be modeled after the one at the Paris Opera House. And it's only one of the fascinating and fun discoveries you'll find at the Capitol.

Frequent tours by qualified guides are offered Monday through Saturday. If you're looking for something different to do, plan to take a State Capitol Tour soon.

Erich Leinsdorf After Boston

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—Now that Erich Leinsdorf is no longer music director of the Boston Symphony and merely another entry on the list of available guest conductors, it is time to wonder about his future as a recording conductor.

His tenure as head music man in Boston put him among the most prolific recorders but the record-maker, RCA, has always done much with the orchestra regardless of who was the music director. It may well be Leinsdorf will now have fewer recording opportunities.

But whatever his future, his recent past as recorder is a glorious one, a fact underlined by the newly released record completing his series devoted to Prokofiev's five piano concertos, with John Browning as soloist (3121).

Understood the Composer

It is of the fifth concerto and again you are given the conviction that conductor and soloist understood the composer precisely the same way and better probably than any other conductor-soloist combination ever did. Leinsdorf's strength is in conveying unquestioned authority.

Presumably he has completed the project of recording all the Prokofiev symphonies with the Boston. The 3rd, 5th and 6th he has done and the 2nd is newly released (3061). Also newly at hand are his interpretations of Beethoven's 1st and 8th symphonies, on one record (3098). But he served all the masters, modern and classical, well in Boston and may the recordings long survive!

New Torchbearer

Sir John Barbirolli is a new torchbearer for oddball Frederick Delius who has had no outstanding popularizer since Sir Thomas Beecham died. Beecham devoted many an album to his music. In these long-play days Barbirolli needed only one record to survey the tedious but often exquisitely lovely Delius output.

Included are "In a Summer Garden" and "A Song Before Sunrise." Barbirolli conducted them with perhaps a little too much sentiment with the Halle Orchestra (Angel-36588).

A recommended listening experience: The eloquent baritone, Hermann Prey, singing from Johannes Brahms' collection of German folk songs, "All Mein Gedanken" (Deutsche Grammophon (139375).

Snow Scenes and Charcoal Portraits

Warmth is probably the most apt word that comes to mind in describing the feeling evoked by the new art show at Phoenixia Library. On exhibit are works by Elfriede Borkmann, a sensitive artist who works in oils, charcoal and india ink.

The Phoenixia show salutes a variety of subjects from landscapes to portraits, and from abstractions to still life. There is vast appeal, too, in the changes in use of different media and techniques, all of which make the exhibit unusually interesting and distinctive.

The artist's use of color is courageous, yet refined at one and the same time. Her unique talent of expressing her feelings and emotions comes to the fore in a strikingly translucent snow scene in which the light literally seems to come from within the picture. A change in mood leads her to deeper hues of blues, reds and purples in a semi-abstract still life filled with warmth. Other words express the joys and promise of spring, and a charcoal portrait is especially excellent.

A pleasant and satisfying show emerges in this display at the library by a Woodstock artist who has been painting for almost two decades. Mrs. Borkmann has studied with Henry Mattson; also held a Carnegie scholarship at New York's Art Student's League. She has also studied at the Woodstock branch of the League, and other institutes. One-man shows of her work have been seen at colleges and galleries, and she has exhibited at such places as Kingston's Senate House, Riverside Museum, and on college campuses. A member of Woodstock Artists Association, she is also a life member of the Art Student's League; is active in the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen.

BACK IN 1934, a New York newspaper printed the picture on the left. It was of a lovely young dancer from the Cotton Club. Her name was, and still is, Lena Horne, and she'll be dancing again (as in the 1969 picture at right) when "Lena & Harry" is aired over ABC on March 22 at 8 p.m. Harry would have to be Harry Belafonte, of course.

Harry and Lena:

Together for the First Time

When modern music was turned the other way, Harry Belafonte and Lena Horne sneaked up behind it.

The results can be heard on ABC-TV on March 22 at 8 p.m. when a special called "Harry and Lena" is telecast.

The television show, performed before a living audience, in the round, with very little dialogue and lots of singing, is a direct result of an appearance Harry and Lena did together last summer at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas.

"I've known Lena for a long time," Harry said. "We've appeared at benefits, but have never performed together before. There was one exception a long time ago; we did an album because we were both under contract to RCA and they laid it on us. It was 'Porgy and Mess - - - eh Bess' but we never saw each other. We had commitments in different parts of the country. So Lena recorded her songs and I sang over her track."

Because they have had different bags—"I'm folk and she's the House of Kern and Porter and is the great sex symbol of our time" (EDITORS NOTE: Don't underestimate yourself, Harry—they haven't felt there was a performance meeting ground.

"Lately Lena has been phasing out of certain areas of show business," Harry said. "She does TV because it's simple and she likes clubs. She's interested in the young and involved with the music of the young. I had a date to go to Las Vegas, and I suggested to her that we sneak up on today's music, which is what we could do together. Well, the act was a big hit with critics and the public."

With the exception of two songs, Harry is doing material he has never performed in public before. "It's a simple, dynamic show," he says.

He has a long-term deal with the show's sponsor and plans to develop more specials. He's not concerned with ratings, feeling they should work for him instead of the other way around. "I want the right," he says, "after 20 years as a respected artist in my own country, to walk on stage and try something and maybe fail."

Tempo's Pick of the Programs

Tonight, Sat., March 21 (p.m.). Carl Betz stars in "The V.D. Story," a drama about the need to treat venereal disease as a medical problem instead of a social stigma.

Thursday, March 26 MOVIE (CBS, 9 p.m.). "The Power," a 1968 science fiction thriller about a super-intelligence capable of destroying human minds. Cast includes George Hamilton, Suzanne Pleshette, Michael Rennie, Nehemiah Persoff, Earl Holliman, Yvonne DeCarlo, Arthur O'Connell, Aldo Ray, Barbara Nichols, Richard Carlson, Ken Murray, Gary Merrill.

Sunday, March 22 HARRY AND LENA (ABC, 8 p.m.). A musical special with Harry Belafonte and Lena Horne performing together for the first time in a low-key, informal hour of songs.

THE ADVOCATES (Channels 13 & 17, 10 p.m.). This always fascinating live debate show pits panelists on the question: "Should your State give every criminal defendant the right to allow television to cover his trial?"

Monday, March 23 MOVIE (ABC, 8:30 p.m.). "Seconds" stars Rock Hudson; is a Faustian thriller about a middle-aged banker offered a chance to shed his age and appearance and begin a new life.

TRIAL (Channels 13 & 17, 8:30 p.m.). A rare TV experience is this NET Journal special program to be aired on four consecutive nights this week at the same time. It features real-life courtroom drama; covers a 1968 trial in Denver on charges of resisting arrest. Tonight: selection of the jury; Tuesday—the officer testifies; Wednesday—heated exchanges as the young defendant charges police harassment; Thursday—the trial draws to a close and the jury announces its verdict.

Tuesday, March 24 THE ESKIMO (CBS, 7:30 p.m.). A special titled "Fight for Life" and focusing on the rugged, isolated Netsilik Eskimos of Canada.

60 MINUTES (CBS, 10 p.m.). Mike Wallace and Harry Reasoner interview Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton; talk to Israelis about war tensions.

Wednesday, March 25 MEDICAL CENTER (CBS, 9

Friday, March 27 THE INCREDIBLE AUTO RACE (CBS, 7:30 p.m.). The story of one of history's longest auto marathons: an 11-day race from London to Sydney, Australia.

NET PLAYHOUSE (Channels 13 & 17, 8:30 p.m.). "Jesus: A Passion Play for Americans" is based on the New Testament and set to blues music.

New Fall Shows

NEW YORK (UPI)—Andy Griffith, Mary Tyler Moore and Herschel Bernardi, all video series veterans, will head a new weekly half-hour comedy series for CBS in the fall. Comedian Tim Conway, whose half-hour situation comedy series introduced at mid-season didn't pan out, will be in charge of a weekly one-hour variety show.

Skelton Stays

NBC will trim Red Skelton's program to 30 minutes when it takes him on in the fall after his 16 seasons of one-hour shows on CBS. Should be better for all concerned. How many remember that Red had a half-hour show on NBC from 1951 through 1953?

'Monte Cristo' First LOS ANGELES (UPI)—"The Count of Monte Cristo," filmed in 1908, was the first commercial movie produced in California. It was begun in Chicago and completed in Los Angeles.

MICHAEL COLE, The Mod Squad leader, is one of the reasons The Mod Squad series on ABC-TV is so popular with youthful and not-so-youthful viewers.

More Basketball

ABC has signed a new three-year pact with the National Basketball Association effective with the 1970-71 season. It calls for telecasting a minimum of 28 games a season instead of the present minimal 18. There will be at least 17 regular season games on Sundays during 1971 plus playoff games that determine the eventual champion.

Disney Renewed

Continuation of "The Wonderful World of Disney" series on NBC has been assured by a new long-term pact between the network and Walt Disney Productions. The Disney programs have been on television since 1954, with the ABC network being the first outlet. NBC took over in 1961.

Baseballers Cast

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Jerry Lewis cast three members of the Los Angeles Dodgers baseball team in his new film, "Which Way to the Front?"—centerfielder Willie Davis, pitcher Don Sutton and infielder Ted Sizemore.

First TV Image

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—On May 10, 1931, Harry Lubcke transmitted the first television image from one side of a room to the other on all-electrical equipment here.

Finn Television

HELSINKI (UPI) — Every fifth Finn is licensed to own a television set, according to the state broadcasting company. With the country's population just under 5 million, the number of television licenses issued has passed 1 million. The number of radio licenses was 1,738,000 at the last report.

PETER FONDA sets out on a motorcycle trip from California to New Orleans; meets up with friendship, bigotry and death in "Easy Rider," the film now playing at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema.

MOVIES

Take the Money And Run

"Take the Money and Run," the current attraction at Kingston's Community Theatre, is ALL Woody Allen. He authored the comedy, directed its filming, and is the star. As usual, he has typecast himself as a frustrated little schlemiel but, this time around, he's trying vainly to climb the ladder to criminal success.

His history is compiled from many interviews with his parents, his teacher, his prison psychologist — with anyone who has known or recalls him. Sight gags galore, news clips and a running commentary in documentary style augment this fragmentary information.

From childhood on, we find, he messes up every job he attempts, whether it's stealing pennies from a gum-ball machine or robbing a bank. Inspired by his simple little wife (Janet Margolin) he rises to head a gang of thugs in an impressive caper, only to discover that another gang has the same idea for the same day. Husband and wife together must now face the fact that he'll never make the "ten most wanted" list.

At the movie's end, we leave him in the state pen, serving an 800 year sentence, with half time for good behavior. If you think Woody is an inspired comedian (and not everyone does), you'll have fun at this film. We happen to think he's very good when he appears in his own material, and this hilarious farce takes the noted Allen form of poking fun at a little sad sack and the foibles of the world around him.

Easy Rider

Now at Woodstock's Tinker Street Cinema is "Easy Rider," up for a "Best Screenplay of the Year" Oscar, and one of the biggest box office draws as a money-making film in recent years. Lots of youth-appeal in this story of two way-out drifters on a motorcycle trip from California to New Orleans. Along the way and in search of America, they meet with a little friendship, lots of bigotry, and death.

Peter Fonda and Dennis Hopper star as the strange on-the-road pair. Jack Nicholson excels as a philosophical, alcoholic cell mate they encounter in a Louisiana jail. Nicholson is such a stand-out that he's been nominated for a "Best Supporting Actor" award.

Where the movie soars above all others of its type is in offering a penetrating view of men's narrowness and prejudice, and the violence they will exert against the threat of nonconformity. As an indictment of the Establishment, "Easy Rider" er" scores heavily when it finds today's society badly wanting.

Cactus Flower

This slick movie adaptation of a slick stage comedy is even slicker on film. "Cactus Flower," the hit Abe Burrows' Broadway show has been improved mightily by the movies . . . no mean task since it was already pretty fabulous fun as a play.

If you haven't seen it, it's now into its third week at Kingston's Mayfair Theatre. Much of the credit for this very, very funny film goes to the pure gold of Goldie Hawn, the old pro professionalism of ever-talented Walter Matthau, and the expertise of Ingrid Bergman.

Talented people before and behind the camera have helped to make "Cactus Flower" totally enjoyable entertainment fare.

Coming Apart

Another area hold-over (at the Orpheum in Saugerties) is this movie, an interesting and unusual "sleeper" in our opinion. "Coming Apart" is a unique, close-up study of a psychiatrist studying his animal self.

It rivals "I Am Curious (Yellow)" in voyeurism and is rousing plenty of controversy. Still, it is the best by far of the American "underground"

WOODY ALLEN is author, director and star of the life story of a frustrated little schlemiel who tries vainly to climb the ladder to criminal success. The film in which he emerges as a triple threat is "Take the Money and Run," current attraction at Kingston's Community Theatre.

movies; defies classification as "dirty."

Where it differs from the sex-exploitation films is in its serious intent. Reaching beyond superficial to the gut level, it startles constantly as psychiatrist Joe Glazer (Rip Torn) encounters himself in the midst of his own being. Torn gives an extraordinary fine characterization in a film that seems to be a rough print, albeit a most professional and slick print. Overall, "Coming Apart" is an uncommon film achievement that will either impress or arouse loathing, because of a sexual satyr, the ritual of the sex act, its masochism, its earthiness and its frankly erotic sex sequences.

The Secret Of Santa Vittoria

At the Lyceum Theatre in Red Hook is this film that many will find enjoyable entertainment. A vibrant performance by Anna Magnani complements the earthy acting of Anthony Quinn. It's Hollywood's early-fifties-style version of the Crichton novel of the same name.

There's lots of beautiful Italian scenery and hundreds of natives for atmosphere to augment the pleasantly pat plot about a little Italian village that hides its stock of famous wines from the Nazis.

The Bridge At Remagen

It's spring and at least one area outdoor theater has reopened. That would be the Hyde Park Drive-In, which is offering a heady triple bill this weekend.

There's "Bridge at Remagen," a World War II story; "Eye of the Cat," a horror film set in a mansion overrun by cats; and "The Good Guys and the Bad Guys," a western about past-their-prime marshals and train robbers.

Midnight Cowboy

Going great guns and into its sixth week at Poughkeepsie's Juliet Theatre, "Cowboy" offers dazzling performances by Jon Voight and Dustin Hoffman in a brilliant film version of James Herlihy's compassionate and comic novel about the lonely ones of this world's big cities. A movie that is definitely not to be missed! (By TOBIE GEERTSEMA)

Photographic Essays Explore Nature's Woodlands

"Discovering Color in Nature," nine photographic essays by color photography specialist Jeanette Klute, is the current show at Harriman Gallery, Orange County Community College, Middletown.

Fifty-six large photos make up the show which concentrates on the many aspects of color displayed in nature, particularly in woodland bodies of water and the plant and wildlife surrounding them. Miss Klute's work will be on display until April 12.

The exhibition is sponsored by Eastman Kodak where Miss Klute is a research photographer in the color technology division, and is touring the U.S. and Canada under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution. The OCCC gallery is open during normal college hours from Monday through Friday.

More Than 200 Shows

The title of one of the nine photo essays, "The Camera Sometimes Seems to Me a Marvelous Kaleidoscope" reveals the photographer's life work and interest in color research. Born in Rochester, Miss Klute studied at the Rochester Institute of Technology and the University of Rochester. Her main work for Kodak has been the study of the variables which will produce the highest quality in color prints, and she has explored with the exactness of a scientist the factors in nature which can affect the viewer's perception of the object. She has had more than 200 one-man shows in the U.S. and abroad.

Each essay and each photograph reveals the artist's personal approach to and continuing delight in the beauties surrounding her. In the section entitled "There Is a Quietness About the Pond," the stillness of winter leaves encrusted in the ice, frozen brooks and weighted boughs cast the mood. The thrill of Spring belongs to the essays, "One of Nature's Spectacles—The Sudden Appearance of a Flower Not Seen Before," "Spring Softens the Edges of Winter" and "To Be Fascinated by Green, Watch a Fern Unfold."

Not only floral beauties concern Miss Klute, but also the mystery of dragonflies, moths and woodland animals such as the raccoon and fawn. Her delicate closeup shots preserve the unique in Nature, and calls to our attention that even "Woodland Light Has a Special Color of Its Own."

STAMPS

A Place for the Quiet, Artistic Geniuses

By SYD KRONISM
AP Newsfeatures

It seems that wherever there are boys there are Boy Scouts. The international organization has been a boon to youngsters all over the world, and postage stamps honoring the various Boy Scout groups have been issued by scores of countries.

The latest such issue comes from Barbados which is paying tribute to its Boy Scouts Association, first founded in 1912 and formally recognized as a local association in 1918. Today this small island proudly boasts 1,400 uniformed members.

The 5 cents value shows the National Scout Badge. The 25 cents depicts Sea Scouts. The 35 cents illustrates a camp fire scene. The 50 cents features the National Scout Headquarters.

The United States soon will issue a stamp honoring Edgar Lee Masters which will be the first of a series dedicated to American poets. The date, place of issuance and design will be reported in this column as soon as the information becomes available.

Masters, a Midwestern poet is best known for "Spoon River Anthology," published in 1915. The anthology is comprised of some 200 epitaphs of men and women, who lie buried on the hill of mythical Spoon River.

Masters' fame is secure with the "Anthology" but he also published many books, including biographies of Lincoln, Vachel Lindsay, Mark Twain and Walt Whitman.

In announcing this new stamp, Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said: "President Nixon has shown considerable interest in our stamp program, and I agree with him stamps for those quiet men and women of genius whose artistic endeavors have preserved our heritage and contributed to our cultural stimulation."

West Berlin has issued a new stamp honoring one of its most eminent writers, Theodor Fontane, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The 20-öfenig stamp commemorates the 150th anniversary of his birth. Appearing as the main design of the new stamp is a portrait of Fontane in multicolor. It is interesting to note that Fontane's works were not only appreciated in Germany but also in the U.S., Great Britain, France, U.S.S.R., and Japan.

The stamp is available at that there is a place on our your local dealer or in stamp departments of fine stores throughout the country.

H. E. Harris & Co. has announced the release of the 1970 edition of its "Collector's Catalog." This catalog includes up-to-date prices on U.S. stamps, plus many new special listings. Early issues—1847 through 1935—are priced as singles in used and unused conditions. Subsequent issues are priced mainly in sets and groups. Selected Canada and United Nations sets are included for the first time. Another feature is a selective listing of British Colonies commemoratives.

Copies are available for just 10 cents directly from H. E. Harris & Co., Dept. SC-2, Boston, Mass. 02117.

The most valuable stamp in the world—the British Guiana one cent black on magenta—will be sold at auction on March 24 in New York City. It was originally issued in 1856. To give an indication of the estimated worth of this rarity, when it was last displayed publicly at an exhibition in London in 1965, it was insured for approximately $520,000!

Foundry Versatility

the complete disposal of local sculptors; allow them to do much of the casting work involved themselves at a reasonable cost.

Few sculptors do their own casting today since it is too expensive and because equipment is so costly. But Martini's idea is to give demonstrations and classes at the foundry to teach sculptors to do their own mold. "They will be able to bring the mold here and be instructed on how to burn out the wax," he says. "We will also teach them to clean out the metal and patina the sculpture piece to its required finish."

A Boon to Artists

The foundry will be a boon to artists throughout the Hudson Valley and the Catskills, who have discovered all too often that casting in this country—especially in bronze—is impossible because of the prohibitive expenses involved. Martini learned that lesson to his sorrow in San Francisco, where he did not have his own foundry as he does here. Other American artists who have paid dearly to have their work cast here in the east have learned it is less costly to send it to Japan and Mexico instead.

The Wittenberg foundry should change all that. Fuel is perhaps the major expense since everything is operated on propane. Natural gas would be less costly, but unfortunately it is not available in the rural environs of Wittenberg. Even so, the barn foundry boasts a melter of 400 lbs. capacity; a deep, deep underground kiln of almost 300 cubic feet for burning the wax; and all other required equipment installed for far less than the normal cost because of Martini's brilliant inventiveness. By turning mower into crane and separator into caster, among other things, he came up with a $4,000 do-it-yourself foundry. Had he not been so versatile and ingenious, he would have found himself paying at least $20,000 for a kiln and $3,000 for a melter, as just two examples.

Local artists are fortunate that Raphael and his Texas born wife, Patricia, decided to take a look at Woodstock on their way from San Francisco to New York City. They were so "inspired" by the natural beauty of the art colony, they gave up all thoughts of Manhattan. Settling in Wittenberg, Raphael continued his modeling in clay; began planning his foundry, where "working with wax" would be done in the oldest and Italian way. On the second floor of the barn, above the foundry, his studio overflows with his work. Powerful heads in aluminum and bronze; towering female figures. Some are copies of works commissioned by men seeking posterity in an enduring sculpture. Others reflect strong friendships between Raphael and his neighbors, as in the head of a bearded, young hippie, and another of octogenarian Bill Spanhake of Wittenberg, master fiddler and story teller.

With the bronze foundry well on its way to success, pourings will become more frequent. Until now, Raphael has had to wait until he accumulated enough sculpture pieces to fill the kiln because of the cost of firing. But the word is out and it will fill more rapidly than three or four weeks.

When he isn't creating his own luminous sculpture or casting the work of other artists, Raphael spends his time bouncing his new son on his knee, Maximilian, whose hair is as red as his father's beard, made his appearance last December.

"Age of Bronze"

And when Maximilian, creativity and the foundry can be neglected for a few short hours, he's helping wife Pat move into the store she's opening on Woodstock's Mill Hill Road. It'll be called "Age of Bronze" and will be housed in the former Woodstock Tourist Agency building. Raphael has recently been casting some of the metal work to be sold there. And, as his name indicates, the new shop will specialize in metal arts: sculpture, jewelry, lamps and vases, all on consignment from artists working in metal of any kind and in almost every form.

Perhaps what impresses most about Raphael and his unique foundry is the small-town artist-craftsman-technician is not dead. If rustic Americana is disappearing more and more from the scene and if the bell is indeed tolling for backwoods America, occasionally a Raphael Martini comes along to ring it anew. The gristmill, the little red schoolhouse, the lobstering hamlet, and the corn-cob-pipe factory are more and more a passing with an age... but we are reminded that all is not lost, and that life goes on much the same for some people when we encounter the inescapable versatility of a young man like Martini, who follows a career forged in the old style of the Old World.

(By TOBIE GEERTSEMA)

HUGE PROPANE TANKS just outside foundry's door provides fuel for fascinating operation that goes on inside.

Local Poet Plans Reading Tour

Folksinger Pete Seeger has called Kingston poet George Montgomery a "Folk Poet." Montgomery's poetry covers contemporary America. Not a poet of the European school, he thinks of himself as a poet of America today, as Walt Whitman and the late Jack Kerouac were poets of earlier periods.

Now Montgomery is beginning a poetry reading tour of colleges, high schools and other places interested in contemporary poetry. He has given such readings many times previously in such places as New York City's Folklore Center, New Jersey's Fairleigh Dickinson University, State University of New York at New Paltz, Brooklyn College and, most recently, at Woodstock's Cafe Espresso, where he was host for the winter readings. He has also appeared on the Allen Burke television show.

Montgomery's poetry has appeared in more than 300 periodicals, including the London Times, Mademoiselle, and Random House's anthology, "Poems of the Revolution." A native of New York City, he purchased a home here in Bloomington last year. Considered a Beat Poet, he is one of a rare breed that rose to prominence in the 1950's. A personal friend of one of today's best known poets, Allen Ginsberg, he recently visited Ginsberg on his 72-acre farm in Upstate Cherry Valley.

Any school or organization interested in having a reading by poet Montgomery should contact him by writing to him at R.F.D. 4, Box 20, Kingston, N. Y.

Rare Slice of Past Stars Yankee Doodle

A rare slice of past history will come to light again in a spring lecture being sponsored by the Constitution Island Association in the North Auditorium of Thayer Hall, West Point, this Sunday, March 22 at 8 p.m.

Planned is a premiere presentation of a narrated color slide program titled "The Warner House on Constitution Island." The program will also include a brief skit in which "Private Yankee Doodle" tells "Aunt Fanny Warner" about his experiences on the historic island during the Revolutionary war. The skit is based on the diary of Joseph Martin, a Continental soldier who was actually stationed on the island.

Prolific Authors

The Warner House, which will be the subject of the slide presentation, was the home of the Warner sisters, Susan and Anna, highly popular authors of the mid-19th century. Susan's "Wide, Wide World" was the best seller of its day and, between them, the sisters authored a staggering 106 books. Anna also penned the words for numerous hymns, including the ever-popular

Ever Been to Elmira's Monument to Soaring?

Only recently did we learn that the soaring center of the United States is right here in New York State. Harris Hill, just outside Elmira, has been the Mecca of soaring enthusiasts for almost 40 years.

The Hill, a tourist attraction of interest, is operated by a non-profit organization that sponsors national, regional and local soaring contests. And fun, too, are the pilots provided by the organization to give visitors sailplane rides.

Youngsters in the Elmira area have the opportunity of taking junior training courses and some of them have enjoyed the sport so much they've gone on to aviation careers.

The Soaring Museum

For tourists, in addition to watching the soaring contests and taking sailplane rides, there's also a Soaring Museum to be visited at Elmira. Both the museum and Harris Hill have become outstanding tourist attractions. It's fitting, of course, that the museum was founded there since soaring started at Elmira. They'll tell you at the museum that the current soaring record altitude is nine miles, and record distance traveled is over 600 miles.

On a recent visit there, we were reminded of nothing so much as a seagull suspended motionless in the air, softly rising and falling with varying air currents. Enthusiasts of the sport of "soaring" must know how the seagull feels. Soaring is not done in gliders — airplanes that are towed aloft and then glide to earth on a long downward drift — but in a sailplane. These are also released from aloft but are so engineered that even gentle up-currents of air raise them higher. Sailplanes go up and down, but the flight path of a poor glider is only downward.

If you're ever in the Elmira area, stop by and you'll see what we mean. You'll never be happy with a glider again (if you ever were) once you've taken a sailplane ride.

First Show

Spring comes early to the winter-shuttered Woodstock Artists Association this year. The WAA gallery on Woodstock's village green will burst into color shortly for an Easter exhibition.

Slated to blossom on the walls is an all media show, to be kicked off with an opening party March 28 from 4 to 6 p.m. to which the public is invited. Following the opening, the show will be on view for two weekends. Gallery hours will be from 1 to 5 p.m. on March 29, April 3, 4 and 5.

Artist members of the Association have been asked to submit two pieces of work in any media on Thursday, March 26 from 4 to 6 p.m. Following the show's closing, they are expected to pick up their work on Thursday, April 9 from 4 to 6 p.m. All work must be properly framed and wired for hanging.

For this first exhibition of the 1970 season, the WAA board is emphasizing a number of smaller works to tempt collectors at the Easter season.

tional Violincello competitions. In 1946, Mrs. Van Ackere won the Premier Prix de Piano in her native Belgium. A graduate of the Royal Conservatory of Music in Brussels she has made solo appearances throughout Europe and has participated in several international contests. Coming to this country in 1954, she taught at Wilson College in Chambersburg, Pa., while appearing on many occasions as soloist with orchestras and in chamber music concerts. She has performed during recent years in Philharmonic chamber music concerts held at Vassar College, Innisfree Garden and Bennett College.

There are few more rewarding ways to spend an afternoon than to hear these fine musicians. Tickets are $3 for adults, $1.50 for students and a maximum of $7 for families. To reserve tickets call 679-8993.

PLACES TO DINE & DANCE

POTPOURRI

By JOAN L. WOINOSKI

Imagine! Marty Kelly's Band playin' "Tangerine" at St. Patrick's Day dance in St. Mary's hall. It was enough to wipe the map of Ireland off those Irish faces. As for that ecclesiastical trio — Padres Edward Farrelly, William Connors, John Farley — (tho' no immediate threat to Sinatra, Crosby or Deano) Saturday night at 165 Broadway, the triumvirate came within yodeling distance of an Obie Award and is well on the way towards becoming area's second Collarmen group.

Impressed by painting of Irish scene created by talented teen, Emmy Hastings, daughter of Don and Bobbie. As for its authenticity, Ray and Gle Myers can vouch for that; they holidayed in Ireland for nine days couple years ago and are ready after seein' that canvas for encores right N-O-W. . . . Sofia Reuner felt crushed 'cause she hadn't worn green but hubby Herb's "Honorary Irishman" pin was large enough to make them both instantly Irish. . . . Tony Bell was star of Paul Jones reel, somehow ending up with not one-but-two partners each time whistle sounded. Considering all the dances he had with his wife, we think Tony must hail from "Chicago, Chicago". . . .

Overheard Smith-Parish president John Burns talkin' 'bout replacing copper leaders on St. Mary's Church roof which were spirited away recently; to whom it may concern — the new replacement fabric's not worth a straw at junkyard!

Another shindig—held Friday, Mar. 13th—paired St. Patrick's Day with Black Cat dance, when Lefooters Western Style Square Dancers met at Hurley Reformed Church hall. Approximately 100 chaps and colleens defied superstition to dance in a dark hall illuminated by only one 16-inch orange candle; lack of visibility insured plenty of chaos, calamity, comedy and friendly propulsion. Don Blair of Westfield, Mass. was Club caller and hear tell members earn Black Cat Badge by such display of courage—sort of like an accident looking for a time to happen!

In keepin' with contemporary universal trends (and showin' no partiality) decorations boasted ecumenicalism — 80 per cent green, 20 per cent orange—as green vested gentlemen dancers off-on-a-spreed guided gals garbed in full skirted ensembles with dual color trim.

Among those square-setters were program chairmen, Warren and Gloria Schoonmaker; hospitality duo, Ed and Verna Stevens; Dave and Sylvia Van Etten, the decor pair; officers Bill and Mickey Margopoulos, Barney and Roxanne Ruckdeschel, Frank and Virginia Soovajian . . . and forsooth, those dancers should've received another badge for each correct pronunciation of some very "American" surnames.

P.S. Congratulations to Tony O'Pizzarelli. Understand he was named "Irishman of the Year" at Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Breakfast March 17. And faith 'n begorrah, by Royal Order of the Blarney Stone, no less. How official can one get

Forsyte Saga Reruns Via Public Demand

Local TV viewers who have been hooked and hooked good on "The Forsyte Saga" can seek out a trampoline and jump for joy. The 26 episodes of the imported British serial will be repeated after the series ends this month.

Anybody who missed any episodes to their chagrin the first time around can catch them during reruns, which begin Sunday, April 5 in their regular time periods — Sundays and Tuesdays at 9 p.m. over NET's Channel 17.

Rabid fans know that "Saga" is an adaptation of John Galsworthy's novels about the nouveau riche Forsyte family of Victorian and Edwardian London. The absorbing drama spans a half century; follows the Forsytes as they struggle against passion and rebellion within the family while trying to protect a facade of "respectability."

They Wouldn't Miss It

Knocked as "a soap opera for intellectuals" by some critics, it has nevertheless become the all-time favorite show of many viewers. Those who love it swear by it as a cultural history of the times and the evolution of the family; as a chronicle of the changing roles of women and the rise and fall of fashion.

People who watch the Forsyte family admit the family members are as habit forming as any vice. In England it proved so popular, church services had to be rescheduled in order to get anybody in the pews. In the U.S. the series has brought on some most unusual hardships.

For example, many viewers, prepared to alter their vacation routes, have called their local stations to find out where and when the series was being broadcast in other parts of the country. Others have simply postponed their trips.

Really Annoyed

A San Francisco viewer in formed his local station, "Last week's episode was so good, I was very annoyed when it ended."

But this perhaps tops them all. A woman in Milwaukee wanted so much to discuss the battle of Irene vs. Soames that she called the Milwaukee Journal to place an ad asking people who felt the same way to call her. The paper refused to take her seriously and finally she sent this request to station WMVS:

"If there is anyone down there that would like to talk it over—and believe me, that is all I am interested in—drop me a card with your phone number and I will contact you."
